the like of which the world before had never witnessed.

About 8 o'clock this morning Admiral Dewey reached the Battery, having been escorted there by a special committee.

He was then taken to city hall, where he met the mayor and party in the governor's room. Here he was presented with a loving cup.

About 10 a. m. the admiral and the special guests were driven to the foot of Warren street and embarked on the Sandy Hook for Grant's tomb. Lunch was served to 500 on the boat during the 25-minute run up the river.

About 11 o'clock the parade moved in the following order:

Sousa's band.
Crew of the Olympia
Admiral Dewey and Mayor Van Wyck in a carriage.

Five captains in the battle of Manila bay in carriages.

Dewey's personal staff in carriages.

Admiral Sampson in a carriage with Randolph Guggenheimer.

Admiral Sampson's staff in carriages.

Rear Admiral Howison and staff.

Chairman of the board of aldermen, T. A. Woods, in a carriage with Admiral Philip.

Admiral Philip's staff in carriages.

Junior officers of the Olympia in carriages.

Junior officers of the North Atlantic squadron in carriages.

Governors of the states in the order of their admission to the Union. Each governor rode alone in a carriage, with the exception of Governor Roosevelt, who rode on horseback at the head of the New York national guard.

Major General Nelson A. Miles and aides.

Major General Merritt and aides. Joint committee of the municipal assembly, consisting of 14 members.

Admiral Schey in a carriage with Admiral Miller.

Sailors of the North Atlantic squadron.

Soldiers of the regular army.

Military organizations from different states, including Pennsylvania and Ohio troops.

The Tenth Pennsylvania, which had fought in the Philippines, attracted great enthusiasm.

The fireworks display last night was stupendous. From eight different points in Greater New York fireworks were exhibited, the grandest display being at the Battery. Admiral Dewey witnessed the display at Grant's tomb.

At night, viewed from the roofs of any of the tall buildings down town, New York appeared an enchanted city. The great buildings were bright with dazzling light and gorgeous colors. On the rivers were fairy barges in the sky flashing shafts of blue. The water seemed a ribbon of lambent flame.

Brooklyn bridge was a halo of glory from end to end, the feature being an electrical welcome to Dewey. Great searchlights played from Brooklyn over the East river.

The first function of Friday was the call of Mayor Van Wyck and the reception committee, to formally welcome Admiral Dewey to the city. With the mayor and party were the governors of some of the states.

The Sandy Hook proceeded to within a short distance of the Olympia, where she was joined by the policeboat Porpoise. The mayor, accompanied by his private secretary, Al Downed, Hon. Randolph Guggenheimer, president of the council, and Hon. Thomas P. Woods, president of the board of aldermen, was transferred to the Patrol, which, in turn, transferred the party to Admiral Dewey's flagship. Lieutenant Brumby, Dewey's flag officer, met the party at the gangway and escorted them to the afterdeck, where Admiral Dewey stood resplendent in an admiral's uniform. After the usual formalities, Mayor Van Wyck stepped forward, formally welcomed Dewey and extended to him and his officers and gallant crew the freedom of the city.

The mayor said: "With pleasure and by direction of the city of New York I meet you at her magnificent gateway to extend to you in her name and of her million visitors, leading citizens of 45 states representing almost every hamlet in the nation, a most cordial welcome, congratulating you on being restored to family and home. A loving and grateful nation is gladdened by your safe return from the most remarkable voyage of history, so far-reaching in its results that the clearest mind cannot yet penetrate the distance. It has already softened the voices of other nations in speaking of ours; changed permanently the map of the world; enlarged the field of American pride and completed the circle of empire in its western course.

"Your courage, skill and wisdom, exhibited in a single naval engagement of a few hours, brought victory to your country's arms, and then you dealt with your country's new relations to the world with the judgment of a trained diplomat. By common consent you have been declared warrior and statesman, one who wears the military uniform until the enemy surrenders and then dons the habit of the diplomat. The greatest reception awaits you that was ever tendered military or civil hero. Such an outpouring of people was never dreamed of before. Never has the heart of America turned with such perfect accord and trusting confidence to one of her sons as it does to you. I place at your disposal the freedom and unlimited hospitality of the city of New York."

The admiral responded: "Mr. Mayor and Gentlemen—Of course it would be needless for me to attempt to make a speech, but my heart appreciates all that you have said. How it is that you have overrated my work so much I cannot understand. It is beyond anything I can conceive of why there should be such an uprising of the country. I simply did what any naval captain in the service would have done, I believe."

To this the mayor replied: "Admiral, no tongue can ever utter, or pen write an overestimate of what you did for your country."

Continuing the mayor said: "The city of New York has had made to commemorate this reception to you, the hero of the Spanish-American war, a badge, a facsimile of which they desire I should present to you in commemoration of the event," at the same time handing to Admiral Dewey the gold medal which the city had made for him. Dewey's eyes shone as he received the gift.

"How magnificent, how beautiful,

how splendid," he exclaimed. "Oh, that is too beautiful." Here he called his Chinese servant and said to him: "Now pin that there, sir," pointing to his breast, "so it won't drop off."

Admiral Dewey inquired after the health of General Butterfield and had a brief chat.

The function ended Admiral Dewey's chief of staff informed the mayor that the admiral would return the call in 15 minutes. The mayor and his party then returned to Sandy Hook, and at the appointed time Dewey, accompanied by his chief of staff and his flag lieutenant, boarded the Sandy Hook, and the 400 persons aboard had a chance to see him at close range. It was impossible to present him personally to all on board, but a number of the distinguished guests were so favored. Meantime there was a great deal of saluting and waving of flags, and for some minutes the din was deafening. It was going toward noon when the admiral returned to his flagship.

Among the invited guests on the Sandy Hook were the governors of a number of states, the justices of the supreme court of the United States, a number of city officials, the members of Admiral Dewey's family, Archbishop Corrigan, Senator Depew, Richard Croker and Seth Low. Among the governors on board were the following: Sweeney of South Carolina, Rollins of New Hampshire, Dyer of Rhode Island,

THE DEWEY LOVING CUP.

Richards of Wyoming, McMillan of Tennessee and Stone of Pennsylvania. It was 1 o'clock when the naval parade got under way.

First came the police boat Patrol, which was the apex of a wedge spreading out to the fireboats New Yorker and Van Wyck, which followed abreast. The steamer Sandy Hook having on board the mayor and the representatives of the city of New York with their standards flying from the fore and aft masts, steamed alongside the Olympia, the flagship of Admiral Dewey, on the port side.

The gallant admiral flew the flag of his old command, Farragut, presented to him by Commander Baird, when the Washington committee called upon him.

After the Olympia came the armored cruiser New York, the flagship of Rear Admiral Sampson, with her big turrets and guns appearing like a moving fortress as she followed in the wake of the admiral's flagship. The Chicago brought up the rear of the column. Following the New York were the two first-class battleships Indiana and Massachusetts.

In the rear of these modern engines of war came the Lancaster, the type of the old navy vessels of the Hartford class. Then followed the gunboat Marietta, small by comparison with the Lancaster, with the auxiliary cruiser Scorpion behind.

Abreast steamed the torpedo boats Porter, Dupont, Ericsson, Winslow and Cushing, and following them came the natty revenue cutters Manning, Algonquin, Gresham, Windom and Onondaga. Next in line were the transports, Sedgwick, McPherson and McClellan and after them came alone the hospital ship Missouri.

Then began the civic and maritime aspect of the parade. Flying the flag of the state of New York, and having on board the representatives of the naval militia, came the steamer Monmouth, followed by other boats with members of the naval militia. In single file came the General Slocum and Glen Island, with the members of the general committee of citizens; the Mount Hope, with the legislative branch of the city government; the Warwick, with the heads of the city departments, and the Matewan, with members of the press.

Then followed, two abreast, 98 graceful, magnificently appointed yachts, led by the Corsair, the flagship of Commodore J. Pierpont Morgan, and Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht Erin.

Sir Thomas Lipton and his yacht were given an uproarious ovation.

After the yachts came 100 steamships of the merchant marine, with three flagships in single file, then five steamers abreast, and the remainder in files of two.

The third and last division of the parade consisted of more than 100 handsomely decorated tugs, yachts, pleasure craft, etc. There were sidewheelers, propellers, electric boats and everything except a sailing vessel.

It was nearly 2 o'clock when the Olympia came abreast of the Battery, and the acclaim of the populace began. Admiral Dewey stood on the quarterdeck, surrounded by his officers, while the men lined the rails, waving their caps in answer to the cheers of the multitude. So they passed up the river, receiving everywhere a tremendous ovation.

The inspiring scenes and patriotic demonstrations reached a climax when the Olympia gracefully swung round the stake boat St. Mary, which was anchored off the tomb of General Grant, plainly visible on a bluff in Riverside park, and she let go with all her guns and a full general's salute in honor of the hero whose ashes reposed nearby. Slowly the cruiser came about, and, dropping below the allegorical float "Peace" and "Victory," came to anchor. The bluffs on both sides of the river were black with people, and their cheering for some minutes was deafening. As the roar died away the members of the Liederkranz and Arion societies, who were aboard the floats, sang patriotic airs in welcome of the admiral.

Meantime the warships, one by one, passed around the stakeboat and anchored below the Olympia till their line reached from off the tomb to Seventy-second street. Torpedoboats, revenue cutters, transports and yachts took a station close in shore, under the bluff at Riverside, this line reaching to Seventy-second street, too. Through the lane thus formed the merchant marine and excursion boats marched through in review, the warships meanwhile thundering forth salutes.

After the merchant marine and excursion boats had passed down the river the steam yachts followed.

One of the most delightful features of the day was the hearty way in which the members of the Dewey family enjoyed every detail of the tribute to their great kinsman. Under the guidance of Edward Wilkins Dewey, a nephew of the admiral, who has been a New Yorker for years, the family party left the Waldorf-Astoria, going to Battery park, where they boarded the steamer Sandy Hook, Mayor Van Wyck being in waiting for them.

"This is the grandest celebration I have ever seen," said Charles Dewey, after the parade, "and I am an old man and have traveled much in this country and twice in Europe. I have seen triumphs and celebrations there. Not one of them ever began to approach this in magnificence and beauty. It is the Lord's day. He is with us. The skies are bright and the sun is smiling upon us. Everything contributes to the success of the pageant. We heard a great deal before we came here about how great the triumph would be, but nothing like this stupendous outburst ever entered our minds. The love, the admiration of the American people for the admiral is wonderful."

It is estimated that 2,500,000 people witnessed the naval parade.

A Jeweler Evidently Murdered.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 30.—William H. Collins, 30 years old, a jeweler at 244 Pennsylvania avenue, this city, was found dead in his sleeping rooms at the rear of his store with his skull crushed and every evidence that he had been murdered. By his side lay a bloody iron coupling pin.

Rohland Killed His Wife.

WEST NEWTON, Pa., Sept. 30.—Thos. J. Rohland shot and instantly killed his wife, Jane Rohland, on the street. The murderer then made his escape and was last seen going in an easterly direction. Mrs. Rohland had sued him for divorce and refused to talk to him.

Boers May Declare Martial Law Today.

ENGLAND TO SEND PROPOSALS.

Believed the Transvaal Will Commit an Overt Act Before Parliament Can Be Assembled — Lively Activity on the Part of the Burghers Reported.

CAPE TOWN, Sept. 30.—It is reported that the Boers may declare martial law today or Monday.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—An official of the foreign office said that the cabinet, in the absence of the Transvaal's reply, had agreed to draft a dispatch formulating its own proposals, which will be communicated to the Transvaal government in a few days. Parliament will be called shortly to consider the situation. The government declines to furnish exact information at present regarding the military movements.

The Pall Mall Gazette says it understands that Mr. Chamberlain submitted a dispatch to the cabinet council containing the following demands on the Transvaal:

First—Five years' franchise qualification without hampering conditions.

Second—Municipal self-government at Johannesburg on a freely-elected basis.

Third—The separation of the judiciary from the executive, and its independence of the volksraad.

Fourth—The abolition of the dynamite monopoly.

Fifth—The removal of the fort dominating Johannesburg, though the defenses at Pretoria may remain.

Sixth—The teaching of the English language in the schools.

Indications lead to the belief that in view of the cabinet message, the Boers will probably commit an overt act which will bring on hostilities before the assembling of parliament. All the latest dispatches from the Transvaal show the keenest activity on the part of the Burghers. Telegrams from Pretoria announce that artillery is being rapidly loaded at the station for the front and that military trains have preference on all lines.

A large body of Burghers left for the Natal border, and another for Middelburg. Detachments of cyclists were being distributed among the different commanders. It is understood that the first contingent of the Pretoria force will leave for the eastern border today.

CAPE TOWN, Sept. 30.—The Transvaal's reply to the last dispatches of the British secretary of state for the colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, was sent from Pretoria. It was to the effect that the republic strictly adhered to the London convention and asked nothing further. The question of the suzerainty of Great Britain over the Transvaal was not touched upon in the dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30. — Marching thousands, along whose line of parade millions flocked and cheered in honor of the great hero of Manila bay, passed in review before the foremost American in this city today. It was a scene of great patriotism.

NEW YORK'S DEWEY ARCH.

the like of which the world before had never witnessed.

About 8 o'clock this morning Admiral Dewey reached the Battery, having been escorted there by a special committee.

He was then taken to city hall, where he met the mayor and party in the governor's room. Here he was presented with a loving cup.

About 10 a. m. the admiral and the special guests were driven to the foot of Warren street and embarked on the Sandy Hook for Grant's tomb. Lunch was served to 500 on the boat during the 25-minute run up the river.

About 11 o'clock the parade moved in the following order:

Sousa's band.
Crew of the Olympia
Admiral Dewey and Mayor Van Wyck in a carriage.

Five captains in the battle of Manila bay in carriages.

Dewey's personal staff in carriages.

Admiral Sampson in a carriage with Randolph Guggenheimer.

Admiral Sampson's staff in carriages.

Rear Admiral Howison and staff.

Chairman of the board of aldermen, T. A. Woods, in a carriage with Admiral Philip.

Admiral Philip's staff in carriages.

Junior officers of the Olympia in carriages.

Junior officers of the North Atlantic squadron in carriages.

Governors of the states in the order of their admission to the Union. Each governor rode alone in a carriage, with the exception of Governor Roosevelt, who rode on horseback at the head of the New York national guard.

Major General Nelson A. Miles and aides.

Major General Merritt and aides.

Joint committee of the municipal assembly, consisting of 14 members.

Admiral Schley in a carriage with Admiral Miller.

Sailors of the North Atlantic squadron.

Soldiers of the regular army.

Military organizations from different states, including Pennsylvania and Ohio troops.

The Tenth Pennsylvania, which had fought in the Philippines, attracted great enthusiasm.

The fireworks display last night was stupendous. From eight different points in Greater New York fireworks were exhibited, the grandest display being at the Battery. Admiral Dewey witnessed the display at Grant's tomb.

At night, viewed from the roofs of any of the tall buildings down town, New York appeared an enchanted city. The great buildings were bright with dazzling light and gorgeous colors. On the rivers were fairy barges in the sky flashing shafts of blue. The water seemed a ribbon of lambent flame.

Brooklyn bridge was a halo of glory from end to end, the feature being an electrical welcome to Dewey. Great searchlights played from Brooklyn over the East river.

The first function of Friday was the call of Mayor Van Wyck and the reception committee, to formally welcome Admiral Dewey to the city. With the mayor and party were the governors of some of the states.

The Sandy Hook proceeded to within a short distance of the Olympia, where she was joined by the policeboat Porpoise.

The mayor, accompanied by his private secretary, Al Downed, Hon. Randolph Guggenheimer, president of the council, and Hon. Thomas P. Woods, president of the board of aldermen, was transferred to the Patrol, which, in turn, transferred the party to Admiral Dewey's flagship. Lieutenant Brumby, Dewey's flag officer, met the party at the gangway and escorted them to the afterdeck, where Admiral Dewey stood resplendent in an admiral's uniform. After the usual formalities, Mayor Van Wyck stepped forward, formally welcomed Dewey and extended to him and his officers and gallant crew the freedom of the city.

The mayor said: "With pleasure and by direction of the city of New York I meet you at her magnificent gateway to extend to you in her name and of her million visitors, leading citizens of 45 states representing almost every hamlet in the nation, a most cordial welcome, congratulating you on being restored to family and home. A loving and grateful nation is gladdened by your safe return from the most remarkable voyage of history, so far-reaching in its results that the clearest mind cannot yet penetrate the distance. It has already softened the voices of other nations in speaking of ours; changed permanently the map of the world; enlarged the field of American pride and completed the circle of empire in its western course.

"Your courage, skill and wisdom, exhibited in a single naval engagement of a few hours, brought victory to your country's arms, and then you dealt with your country's new relations to the world with the judgment of a trained diplomat. By common consent you have been declared warrior and statesman, one who wears the military uniform until the enemy surrenders and then dons the habit of the diplomat. The greatest reception awaits you that was ever tendered military or civil hero. Such an outpouring of people was never dreamed of before. Never has the heart of America turned with such perfect accord and trusting confidence to one of her sons as it does to you. I place at your disposal the freedom and unlimited hospitality of the city of New York."

The admiral responded: "Mr. Mayor and Gentlemen—Of course it would be needless for me to attempt to make a speech, but my heart appreciates all that you have said. How it is that you have overrated my work so much I cannot understand. It is beyond anything I can conceive of why there should be such an uprising of the country. I simply did what any naval captain in the service would have done, I believe."

To this the mayor replied: "Admiral, no tongue can ever utter, or pen write an overestimate of what you did for your country."

Continuing the mayor said: "The city of New York has had made to commemorate this reception to you, the hero of the Spanish-American war, a badge, a facsimile of which they desire I should present to you in commemoration of the event," at the same time handing to Admiral Dewey the gold medal which the city had made for him. Dewey's eyes shone as he received the gift.

"How magnificent, how beautiful

how splendid," he exclaimed. "Oh, that is too beautiful." Here he called his Chinese servant and said to him: "Now pin that there, sir," pointing to his breast, "so it won't drop off."

Admiral Dewey inquired after the health of General Butterfield and had a brief chat.

The function ended Admiral Dewey's chief of staff informed the mayor that the admiral would return the call in 15 minutes. The mayor and his party then returned to Sandy Hook, and at the appointed time Dewey, accompanied by his chief of staff and his flag lieutenant, boarded the Sandy Hook, and the 400 persons aboard had a chance to see him at close range. It was impossible to present him personally to all on board, but a number of the distinguished guests were so favored. Meantime there was a great deal of saluting and waving of flags, and for some minutes the din was deafening. It was going toward noon when the admiral returned to his flagship.

Among the invited guests on the Sandy Hook were the governors of a number of states, the justices of the supreme court of the United States, a number of city officials, the members of Admiral Dewey's family, Archbishop Corrigan, Senator Depew, Richard Croker and Seth Low. Among the governors on board were the following: Sweeney of South Carolina, Rollins of New Hampshire, Dyer of Rhode Island, and the legislative branch of the city government; the Warwick, with the heads of the city departments, and the Matewan, with members of the press.

Then followed, two abreast, 98 graceful, magnificently appointed yachts, led by the Corsair, the flagship of Commodore J. Pierpont Morgan, and Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht Erin.

Sir Thomas Lipton and his yacht were given an uproarious ovation.

After the yachts came 100 steamships of the merchant marine, with three masts in single file, then five steamers abreast, and the remainder in files of two.

The third and last division of the parade consisted of more than 100 handsomely decorated tugs, yachts, pleasure craft, etc. There were side-wheelers, propellers, electric boats and everything except a sailing vessel.

It was nearly 2 o'clock when the Olympia came abreast of the Battery, and the acclaim of the populace began. Admiral Dewey stood on the quarter-deck, surrounded by his officers, while the men lined the rails, waving their caps in answer to the cheers of the multitude. So they passed up the river, receiving everywhere a tremendous ovation.

The inspiring scenes and patriotic demonstrations reached a climax when the Olympia gracefully swung round the stake boat St. Mary, which was anchored off the tomb of General Grant, plainly visible on a bluff in Riverside park, and she let go with all her guns and a full general's salute in honor of the hero whose ashes reposed nearby. Slowly the cruiser came about, and, dropping below the allegorical float "Peace" and "Victory," came to anchor. The bluffs on both sides of the river were black with people, and their cheering for some minutes was deafening. As the roar died away the members of the Liederkranz and Arion societies, who were aboard the floats, sang patriotic airs in welcome of the admiral.

Meantime the warships, one by one, passed around the stakeboat and anchored below the Olympia till their line reached from off the tomb to Seventy-second street. Torpedoboats, revenue cutters, transports and yachts took a station close in shore, under the bluff at Riverside, this line reaching to Seventy-second street, too. Through the lane thus formed the merchant marine and excursion boats marched through in review, the warships meanwhile thundering forth salutes.

After the merchant marine and excursion boats had passed down the river the steam yachts followed.

One of the most delightful features of the day was the hearty way in which the members of the Dewey family enjoyed every detail of the tribute to their great kinsman. Under the guidance of Edward Wilkins Dewey, a nephew of the admiral, who has been a New Yorker for years, the family party left the Waldorf-Astoria, going to Battery park, where they boarded the steamer Sandy Hook, Mayor Van Wyck being in waiting for them.

"This is the grandest celebration I have ever seen," said Charles Dewey, after the parade, "and I am an old man and have traveled much in this country and twice in Europe. I have seen triumphs and celebrations there. Not one of them ever began to approach this in magnificence and beauty. It is the Lord's day. He is with us. The skies are bright and the sun is smiling upon us. Everything contributes to the success of the pageant. We heard a great deal before we came here about how great the triumph would be, but nothing like this stupendous outburst ever entered our minds. The love, the admiration of the American people for the admiral is wonderful."

It is estimated that 2,500,000 people witnessed the naval parade.

A Jeweler Evidently Murdered.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 30.—William H. Collins, 30 years old, a jeweler at 244 Pennsylvania avenue, this city, was found dead in his sleeping rooms at the rear of his store with his skull crushed and every evidence that he had been murdered. By his side lay a bloody iron coupling pin.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Among the contributions received to the Dewey home fund are the following: Washington Evening Star, $250; W. Bourke Cockran, New York, $500; Indianapolis board of trade, $100. Total received up to 10 o'clock Friday, $48,103.

Rohland Killed His Wife.

WEST NEWTON, Pa., Sept. 30.—Thos. J. Rohland shot and instantly killed his wife, Jane Rohland, on the street. The murder then made his escape and was last seen going in an eastward direction. Mrs. Rohland had sued him for divorce and refused to talk to him.

THE DEWEY LOVING CUP.

Richards of Wyoming, McMillan of Tennessee and Stone of Pennsylvania.

It was 1 o'clock when the naval parade got under way.

First came the police boat Patrol, which was the apex of a wedge spreading out to the fireboats New Yorker and Van Wyck, which followed abreast.

The steamer Sandy Hook having on board the mayor and the representatives of the city of New York with their standards flying from the fore and aft masts, steamed alongside the Olympia, the flagship of Admiral Dewey, on the port side.

The gallant admiral flew the flag of his old commander, Farragut, presented to him by Commander Baird, when the Washington committee called upon him.

After the Olympia came the armored cruiser New York, the flagship of Rear Admiral Sampson, with her big turrets and guns appearing like a moving fortress as she followed in the wake of the admiral's flagship. The Chicago brought up the rear of the column. Following the New York were the two first-class battleships Indiana and Massachusetts.

In the rear of these modern engines of war came the Lancaster, the type of the old navy vessels of the Hartford class. Then followed the gunboat Marietta, small by comparison with the Lancaster, with the auxiliary cruiser Scorpion behind.

Abreast steamed the torpedoboats Porter, Dupont, Ericsson, Winslow and Cushing, and following them came the natty revenue cutters Manning, Algonquin, Gresham, Windom and Onondaga. Next in line were the transports, Sedgwick, McPherson and McClellan and after them came alone the hospital ship Missouri.

Then began the civic and maritime aspect of the parade. Flying the flag of the state of New York, and having on board the representatives of the naval militia, came the steamer Monmouth, followed by other boats with members of the naval militia. In single file came the General Slocum and Glen Island, with the members of the general committee of citizens; the Mount Hope, with the legislative branch of the city government; the Warwick, with the heads of the city departments, and the Matewan, with members of the press.

Then followed, two abreast, 98 graceful, magnificently appointed yachts, led by the Corsair, the flagship of Commodore J. Pierpont Morgan, and Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht Erin.

VERY NEAR TO WAR

Boers May Declare Martial Law Today.

ENGLAND TO SEND PROPOSALS.

Believed the Transvaal Will Commit an Overt Act Before Parliament Can Be Assembled — Lively Activity on the Part of the Burghers Reported.

CAPE TOWN, Sept. 30.—It is reported that the Boers may declare martial law today or Monday.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—An official of the foreign office said that the cabinet, in the absence of the Transvaal's reply, had agreed to draft a dispatch formulating its own proposals, which will be communicated to the Transvaal government in a few days. Parliament will be called shortly to consider the situation. The government declines to furnish exact information at present regarding the military movements.

The Pall Mall Gazette says it understands that Mr. Chamberlain submitted a dispatch to the cabinet council containing the following demands on the Transvaal:

First—Five years' franchise qualification without hampering conditions.

Second—Municipal self-government at Johannesburg on a freely-elected basis.

Third—The separation of the judiciary from the executive, and its independence of the volksraad.

Fourth—The abolition of the dynamite monopoly.

Fifth—The removal of the fort dominating Johannesburg, though the defenses at Pretoria may remain.

Sixth—The teaching of the English language in the schools.

Indications lead to the belief that in view of the cabinet message, the Boers will probably commit an overt act which will bring on hostilities before the assembling of parliament. All the latest dispatches from the Transvaal show the avowed activity on the part of the Burghers. Telegrams from Pretoria announce that artillery is being rapidly loaded at the station for the front and that military trains have preference on all lines.

A large body of Burghers left for the Natal border, and another for Middelburg. Detachments of cyclists were being distributed among the different commanders. It is understood that the first contingent of the Pretoria force will leave for the eastern border today.

CAPE TOWN, Sept. 30.—The Transvaal's reply to the last dispatches of the British secretary of state for the colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, was sent from Pretoria. It was to the effect that the republic strictly adhered to the London convention and asked nothing further. The question of the suzerainty of Great Britain over the Transvaal was not touched upon in the dispatch.

Enoch, the 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whetton, of High street, went out hunting with several other boys yesterday morning, and as a result Enoch's face is filled with powder. The boy, while watching the gun being discharged, had his face too close to the muzzle, and when the powder struck his face he fell to the ground and commenced to cry. He came home and a physician was summoned, who dressed his face. Much skin was torn from about the nose of the boy.

WORK SUSPENDED.

Inability to Secure Brick Stops Work at the National Pottery.

Because the contractors of the National pottery are unable to secure a sufficient number of brick from the East End brick works the entire force of bricklayers are out of employment. Some Very Bad Places Near the East End Terminus.

Something should be done toward improving the hill road near the East End terminus. The road is very rocky and in some places the road is very dangerous to travel over, especially at night. The road was never improved in its entirety as was ordered although it was thought by many the work would be completed this year.

WILL MAKE GAS.

The East End Plant Is Now Ready to be Operated.

Everything is in readiness at the East End gas plant for the making of gas. During the summer much experimental work has been done and many improvements and changes have been made since the plant was completed by the contractors. The plant as it is at present is one of the most complete in this part of the state.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 1.—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Our own church. What can we do for her?—Ps. cxlii, 1-9. (A meeting to discuss denominational work, led by the pastor.)

This psalm is a pilgrim song. It was undoubtedly composed with reference to one of the great yearly festivals, when the caravans of pilgrims went up to the holy city. The psalmist rejoices in the call of his friends and neighbors to come and go up to the house of the Lord. The procession moves forward. Jerusalem is reached. "Our feet are standing within thy gates, O Jerusalem!" He describes the city of Jerusalem and bursts into prayer for her peace and prosperity. This psalm and its surroundings suggest that—

1. We should be devoted to our own church. What devotion for Jerusalem and the temple possessed the heart of the poet who wrote this psalm! He loved Jerusalem; he looked upon the holy city; he admired her stateliness and beauty; he rejoiced in the scenes of her early grandeur, and his heart swelled with pride as he recalled the fact that Jerusalem had been the gathering place of the tribes of Israel; that here they had given testimony unto the Lord and rendered thanks unto his name. Every Endeavorer should be thoroughly devoted to his own church. He should know her past history and rejoice in it. He should be familiar with her present greatness and should joy in that also. A spirit of loyal, true-hearted devotion to the church will put us in the proper frame of mind to do all we can for her best interests and advancement.

2. We should place a high estimate upon the services of our own church. The poet was glad when the call came to go up to the house of the Lord. He was ready and anxious to go. He prized highly the privileges of God's house and considered it a pleasure and not an irksome task to attend them. Would that this spirit prevailed more in the hearts of the church people of today! Not only would the house of God be more often frequented, but from its inspiring services influences would go forth that would quicken into new life and vigor all forms of church work. It is just as possible for us to find joy in God's house as it was for the psalmist. Let us cultivate this spirit more and more. Let us learn to properly prize and appreciate the services of God's house.

3. We should pray for our own church. "Pray for the peace of Jerusalem. They shall prosper that love thee. Peace be within thy walls and prosperity within thy palaces." The peace and prosperity of our church should have constant place in our prayers, and we should also pray for the whole church of Christ, the church universal.

Bible Readings.—Ps. lxxvii, 1-15; lxxxiv, 1-12; lxxxvii, 1-7; c, 1-5; cxvi, 17-19; cxxxv, 1-5; cxxxvii, 1-6; Math. xiii, 16-20; Acts ii, 42-47; xx, 28; Eph. v, 25, 29; Heb. x, 23-25.

Veil Will Be Lifted.

The time will undoubtedly come when "in Thy light we shall see light." The afflictions of the present resemble what the fissures and unsightly gashes were to the Israelites when encamped beneath the savage cliffs of Sinai. Their gloom and terror and mystery were all gone when beheld at the far distance in the flush of evening. So, too, will your experiences of trial be when seen bathed in the glory of unsetting suns. What now is like the tolling of funeral bells will then appear rather to have been preparatory and preparation chimes, ringing in the festal worshipers to the church of the glorified. No purpose of God regarding you will remain unfulfilled, no flower uncrowned with blossom.—J. R. Macduff, D. D.

The Gift of God.

Perhaps no cry in Cairo is more striking than that of the water carrier. "The gift of God!" he cries as he goes along with the waterskin on his shoulder. It is very likely that water, so invaluable and so often scarce in hot countries, was in Christ's day spoken of, as now, as "the gift of God," to denote its preciousness. If so, Jesus' expression to the woman would be very forcible.—"Ragged Life In Egypt."

In Touch With All Spiritual Work.

A pastor should be in touch with every part of the congregational work, so far as to know that all is being carried on, but he should have direct part in all the spiritual work. If he is a stranger in the Sabbath school and young people's meeting, he will find that the bonds between him and his people are not increasing in strength or tenderness.—United Presbyterian.

"So you've set up a hired girl" said farmer Muchland to his son. "Your mother never had a hired girl. She worked early and late, and raised a family. Hired girl indeed! Look at your mother, sir."

"It's just looking at mother" said the son. "made me resolve that my children's mother should never look like her, worn out in her prime."

In the partnership of marriage women give twice as much as men. They give equal work, and they give themselves, their very life. Children come. No chance for rest, work must go on. Inflammation, ulceration, debilitating drains and female weakness, undermine the health and shock the nervous system. In a few years the woman is worn out.

Women who have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription say that they can do their own work and keep their strength and good looks. It cures inflammation, ulceration, female weakness and unhealthy drains.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free of charge.

"About two years ago my health became very poor from female weakness and troubles peculiar to my sex; in fact I was so weak and feeble that I was able to do but little work," writes Mrs. Josie M. Gues, of Balleston, Cullman Co., Ala. "I decided to buy me a bottle or two of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and give it a trial. I took two bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' and one vial of the 'Pellets' and these proved to be all I needed. I felt stout and well after taking Dr. Pierce's medicine and have been doing my work with more satisfaction than I had ever felt before."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 1.—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Our own church. What can we do for her?—Ps. cxvii, 1-9. (A meeting to discuss denominational work, led by the pastor.)

This psalm is a pilgrim song. It was undoubtedly composed with reference to one of the great yearly festivals, when the caravans of pilgrims went up to the holy city. The psalmist rejoices in the call of his friends and neighbors to come and go up to the house of the Lord. The procession moves forward. Jerusalem is reached. "Our feet are standing within thy gates, O Jerusalem!" He describes the city of Jerusalem and bursts into prayer for her peace and prosperity. This psalm and its surroundings suggest that—

1. We should be devoted to our own church. What devotion for Jerusalem and the temple possessed the heart of the poet who wrote this psalm! He loved Jerusalem; he looked upon the holy city; he admired her stateliness and beauty; he rejoiced in the scenes of her early grandeur, and his heart swelled with pride as he recalled the fact that Jerusalem had been the gathering place of the tribes of Israel; that here they had given testimony unto the Lord and rendered thanks unto his name. Every Endeavorer should be thoroughly devoted to his own church. He should know her past history and rejoice in it. He should be familiar with her present greatness and should joy in that also. A spirit of loyal, true-hearted devotion to the church will put us in the proper frame of mind to do all we can for her best interests and advancement.

2. We should place a high estimate upon the services of our own church. The poet was glad when the call came to go up to the house of the Lord. He was ready and anxious to go. He prized highly the privileges of God's house and considered it a pleasure and not an irksome task to attend them. Would that this spirit prevailed more in the hearts of the church people of today! Not only would the house of God be more often frequented, but from its inspiring services influences would go forth that would quicken into new life and vigor all forms of church work. It is just as possible for us to find joy in God's house as it was for the psalmist. Let us cultivate this spirit more and more. Let us learn to properly prize and appreciate the services of God's house.

3. We should pray for our own church. "Pray for the peace of Jerusalem. They shall prosper that love thee. Peace be within thy walls and prosperity within thy palaces." The peace and prosperity of our church should have constant place in our prayers, and we should also pray for the whole church of Christ, the church universal.

The Gift of God.

Perhaps no cry in Cairo is more striking than that of the water carrier. "The gift of God!" he cries as he goes along with the waterskin on his shoulder. It is very likely that water, so invaluable and so often scarce in hot countries, was in Christ's day spoken of, as now, as "the gift of God," to denote its preciousness. If so, Jesus' expression to the woman would be very forcible.—"Ragged Life In Egypt."

In Touch With All Spiritual Work.

A pastor should be in touch with every part of the congregational work, so far as to know that all is being carried on, but he should have direct part in all the spiritual work. If he is a stranger in the Sabbath school and young people's meeting, he will find that the bonds between him and his people are not increasing in strength or tenderness.—United Presbyterian.

"It's just looking at mother" said the son. "made me resolve that my children's mother should never look like her, worn out in her prime."

"About two years ago my health became very poor from female weakness and troubles peculiar to my sex. In fact I was so weak and feeble that I was unable to do but little work," writes Mrs. Josie M. Guess, of Balfeyton, Cullman Co., Ala. "I decided to buy me a bottle or two of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and give it a trial. I took two bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' and one vial of the 'Pellies' and these proved to be all I needed. I felt stout and well after taking Dr. Pierce's medicine and have been doing my work with more satisfaction than I had ever felt before."

WINE OF CARDUI

A SURE MEDICINE.

HANDSOM, VA., Dec. 31.

I have been suffering from female weakness for four years, and have taken many medicines, but Wine of Cardui and Back-Draught have done more for me than anything else.

MRS. CAROLINE EVANS.

McELREE'S
Wine of Cardui

It is a mistake to take any and every kind of medicine when you are sick. There is danger in it. Most of the so-called cures for "female weakness" do nothing more than deaden the pain temporarily, and when the effect wears away the patient is weaker and sicker than before. It is never wise to take chances. You have only one life, and that is dear and precious. If you have any pain, ache, disorder or weakness in the feminine organs, nothing will help you like Wine of Cardui. It helps do away with morning sickness during the early stages of pregnancy, and modifies the pains of childbirth; recovery is rapid and future health is assured. The Wine is purely vegetable, being made of herbs whose medicinal properties act directly upon the organs of womanhood. It is a long-tried remedy, and has many years of success behind it. It is sure. Why take a chance medicine when you can get a sure medicine?

FIREMEN AS POLICE.

A correspondent, who wishes to give honor to whom honor is due, makes the assertion that the firemen, in the last two or three years, have made as many arrests as the police department. While an examination of the records may not bear this statement out exactly it will certainly show that a tremendously large proportion of the arrests made, were made by the firemen, a much larger proportion, in fact, than even the police themselves or the public imagine. As guardians of the peace the firemen of the city have shown themselves most capable and efficient and they are deserving of commendation. If the police force did their duty as well, the city would be a much better regulated town than it has been.

SOME RESULTS.

One of the most important things for workingmen to remember is the cheerful fact that the wages paid in this country to workingmen are the highest paid to workingmen in the world, and that this condition of affairs is due almost entirely to the good work of the present tariff, a McKinley protective tariff. Another good thing to remember in this connection is the upward tendency of wages since the present tariff went into operation. Then again as a result of the beneficent effects of the tariff it is said that there are a less number of unemployed at this time in this country than for ten years.

Alvah C. Smith, manager of the Atlantic Oil company, and Miss Margaret A. Grove, stenographer at the Union pottery, were married at high noon last Wednesday in Beaver Falls, by Rev. C. F. Swift. After the ceremony the couple went to the home of G. A. Grove, father of the bride, where a reception was tendered them. They will go to housekeeping on Fourth street and the groom is erecting a new home in Oakland. The contracting parties are very well known and have a host of friends who will wish them much happiness. Mrs. Smith will retain her position at the Union pottery for some time.

DECISIONS ANNOUNCED

Circuit Court Hands Down Its Opinions on

SEVERAL VERY IMPORTANT CASES

Almost as Many Reversed as Were Affirmed—Two Local Cases Affirmed—Burford-Bryan Appeal Continued Until January Session.

LISBON, Sept. 30.—[Special]—The circuit court judges handed down their decisions yesterday afternoon.

In the case of H. E. Bower versus East Palestine the court made an order suggesting diminution of record and the case was continued. He was fined for selling beer on the streets of East Palestine. Plaintiff will file a more complete record.

The Justice at Fault.

In the case of W. C. Boyle versus W. G. Fawcett the judgment of common pleas was affirmed and the justice of the peace reversed. The justice in granting a new trial had continued the case for more than eight days, contrary to law.

ADMIRAL DEWEY IN CITIZEN'S DRESS.

The court accordingly ruled the justice's decision null and void.

In the McCalla case a motion had been filed in the probate court to set aside the year's allowance given by the appraisers to the widow of David McCalla, deceased, out of property in this state at the time of his death and his widow now being a resident of Kansas. The motion was allowed in probate court and the year's allowance set aside on the ground that the widow was a non-resident of the state, affirmed by the court of common pleas. Circuit court, while not passing on the real issue, held that the probate court did not have jurisdiction and that the proper place to start the action was in the court of common pleas. The judgments of probate and common pleas courts were therefore reversed and motion dismissed.

Liverpool Cases.

The judgment in the case of J. E. McDonald, plaintiff in error, versus Josephine Thompson, defendant in error, was affirmed; also in the case of John Shrader, plaintiff in error, versus Josephine Thompson, defendant in error, the judgment of common pleas court was affirmed.

The cases of George S. Walton versus Samuel Grove, Jr., and Samuel Grove, Sr., were reversed on the ground that the judgments of $144.69 were not sustained by evidence and against the weight of evidence.

In the case of I. B. Cameron, as treasurer, versus Charles M. Schmick the judgment of the court of common pleas was reversed, the circuit court holding that certain funds of the corporation held by the defendant were taxable, that he could not subtract his indebtedness to the corporation from the amount of the bonds and pay taxes on the balance, as in ordinary cases.

Edward Boyle sued the Big Vein Coal company for damages for personal injury by reason of the roof of the mine caving in, he having no knowledge that the roof was dangerous and the company not furnishing props as required by law. The company demurred to the petition and the demurrer was sustained by the court of common pleas on the ground that plaintiff did not state in his petition that he would have used props had they been furnished him. Circuit court held this was error and demurrer should have been overruled.

Important to Teachers.

The case of the board of education of Special district No. 5, of Unity township, versus Lillian L. Harris, is one that interests all teachers who teach branches additional to the common branches. February 6, 1897, Miss Harris obtained a certificate from the county board of examiners. Afterwards at two different examinations she was examined in additional higher branches, and the grades inserted in the original certificate. She had been teaching for eight weeks after receiving her certificate and before the additional branches were added, and the board of education of East Palestine refused to pay her for these eight weeks because she did not have a proper certificate. The court of common pleas held and was sustained by the circuit court that there was no evidence that the board required her to teach the higher branches, that if she was not so required but did teach them, it would not affect her pay. Evidence showed the higher branches were required taught in grade 10, but that Miss Harris was not the only teacher in that room and the court held that it could assume in the absence of evidence to the contrary that the other teachers were the ones required to teach the higher branches.

In the case of the city of Salem, plaintiff in error, versus Nettie Fawcett, the court of common pleas was affirmed. She obtained damages for a street accident.

The case of Josiah P. Caldwell versus Luther M. Duell and others was brought up on appeal, and plaintiff's title to a tract of land 100x120 in Wellsville, was quieted, and the balance of the tract was decreed to the defendant, D. T. Lawson, each party to pay his own costs.

The case of Burford Bros. and W. N. Bryan, in which the company appealed from the damages given by the common pleas court was heard, but owing to lack of time was not considered, being continued until the term beginning January 30, 1900.

If Sheriff Gill adds that automobile to his livery outfit before election Candidate Tom Arnold, of Leetonia, will lease it for use in his race for the legislature.

FIREMEN AS POLICE.

A correspondent, who wishes to give honor to whom honor is due, makes the assertion that the firemen, in the last two or three years, have made as many arrests as the police department. While an examination of the records may not bear this statement out exactly it will certainly show that a tremendously large proportion of the arrests made, were made by the firemen, a much larger proportion, in fact, than even the police themselves or the public imagine. As guardians of the peace the firemen of the city have shown themselves most capable and efficient and they are deserving of commendation. If the police force did their duty as well, the city would be a much better regulated town than it has been.

SOME RESULTS.

One of the most important things for workingmen to remember is the cheerful fact that the wages paid in this country to workingmen are the highest paid to workingmen in the world, and that this condition of affairs is due almost entirely to the good work of the present tariff, a McKinley protective tariff. Another good thing to remember in this connection is the upward tendency of wages since the present tariff went into operation. Then again as a result of the beneficent effects of the tariff it is said that there are a less number of unemployed at this time in this country than for ten years.

They will go to housekeeping on Fourth street and the groom is erecting a new home in Oakland. THE LOCAL TRADE NEWS Collected Around the Potteries of the District.

THE PRICE LIST QUESTION

Continues to Be a Burning Question in the Trade Journals—Personals From City Potteries—Shipments From This City. President Hughes Busy.

President Al S. Hughes, of the Brotherhood, was in Rochester yesterday on business connected with the order.

The American Potters' Journal, in discussing the matter of advancing prices, says: "Prices are beginning to be complained of as a result of advanced cost of materials. But manufacturers find it unwise, owing to foreign competition, to raise prices at this time, knowing that such a course would not only result in increased imports, but would be speedily followed by a demand for an increase in the wages of workmen."

"Under the circumstances little can be done to advance the price of staples, which constitute the great bulk of production, and dinner ware, hotel goods and restaurant ware are likely to continue to be sold close to the cost of production, since foreign potters are dependent on the American markets, and are in no good mood now that the demand has largely increased, to lock themselves out of the market."

Mrs. James Hibbin has returned to her home in Trenton after a visit in this city. She is the wife of a kilnman at the Anchor pottery.

Reports from Beaver Falls, Pa., state that the Mayer Pottery company are rushed with orders and their pottery is running to its fullest capacity.

Decorated specialties and small novelties are in good demand, and buyers are now placing their orders for the holiday trade.

Robert Houghton and Jerry Delaney, of this city, are now employed at the Crescent pottery at Trenton.

Robert Davidson, of the East End pottery, will start at the Diamond Monday, taking charge of the big gigger.

It is said J. E. McDonald will soon locate a pottery at Chester.—Commoner and Glassworker.

China, Glass and Lamps says: "Carthage, a suburb of Cincinnati, is to have a new pottery, which is to be built by Mr. Mappes, who has been in the business a quarter of a century, and was formerly identified with the pottery at Winston Place, which the local papers claim was absorbed by the pottery trust and silenced. The latter statement will be news to Dos Passos and a lot of Ohio valley potters."

The No. 3 plant of the Greenwood Pottery company at Trenton is undergoing a thorough overhauling.

Tobe Henderson, an oddman at the Sebring pottery, became suddenly ill while at work this morning and had to be removed to his home.

The American China company, of Toronto, is preparing to make extensive improvements on its plant. Three new kilns will be built, which will give the plant a capacity of 10 kilns. The company has been very busy since it assumed control of the pottery.

Carload shipments have been made during the week by Harkers to Milwaukee; Knowles, Taylor & Knowles to St. Joseph, Mo., and Charleston, W. Va.; Dresden to Newburg and Oklahoma; Laughlins to Kalispie, Mont.

Col. W. A. Rhodes, with the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles company, was registered at the Continental hotel, Philadelphia, the early part of this week.

Crockery and Glass Journal says: "The potters of this country are on right road. They are rejecting orders not up to the standard price. The next move will be to advance prices. There is absolutely no need to wait a single day. The trade expect it, more, really want it. Then why not do it?"

President A. S. Hughes, of the Brotherhood, went to Salem this week to find out the feeling about organizing a union. Nearly all the employees said they would join. A meeting will be held Tuesday when a lodge will be organized. There are at present over 70 hands employed at the Salem pottery and quite a number will be added next week.

The potters have received the announcement that another raise on raw material had been made and that 75 cents a ton had been added to spar.

A crockery journal thinks it would be well for potteries in the United States to reproduce small figures and statuettes which are imported to this country for the holiday trade.

THE PRICE LIST QUESTION

Continues to Be a Burning Question in the Trade Journals—Personals From City Potteries—Shipments From This City. President Hughes Busy.

President Al S. Hughes, of the Brotherhood, was in Rochester yesterday on business connected with the order.

The American Potters' Journal, in discussing the matter of advancing prices, says: "Prices are beginning to be complained of as a result of advanced cost of materials. But manufacturers find it unwise, owing to foreign competition, to raise prices at this time, knowing that such a course would not only result in increased imports, but would be speedily followed by a demand for an increase in the wages of workmen."

"Under the circumstances little can be done to advance the price of staples, which constitute the great bulk of production, and dinner ware, hotel goods and restaurant ware are likely to continue to be sold close to the cost of production, since foreign potters are dependent on the American markets, and are in no good mood now that the demand has largely increased, to lock themselves out of the market."

Mrs. James Hibbin has returned to her home in Trenton after a visit in this city. She is the wife of a kilnman at the Anchor pottery.

Reports from Beaver Falls, Pa., state that the Mayer Pottery company are rushed with orders and their pottery is running to its fullest capacity.

Decorated specialties and small novelties are in good demand, and buyers are now placing their orders for the holiday trade.

Robert Houghton and Jerry Delaney, of this city, are now employed at the Crescent pottery at Trenton.

Robert Davidson, of the East End pottery, will start at the Diamond Monday, taking charge of the big gigger.

It is said J. E. McDonald will soon locate a pottery at Chester.—Commoner and Glassworker.

China, Glass and Lamps says: "Carthage, a suburb of Cincinnati, is to have a new pottery, which is to be built by Mr. Mappes, who has been in the business a quarter of a century, and was formerly identified with the pottery at Winston Place, which the local papers claim was absorbed by the pottery trust and silenced. BIG FIRE IN IRONDALE

Seven Houses Destroyed Early This Morning.

THE LOSS IS OVER $5,000

The Town Wildly Excited Over the Blaze. Several Stores Were Gutted and the Post-office Went Up in Smoke—Jewelry Store Burnt.

IRONDALE, Sept. 30.—[Special]—Early this morning fire was discovered in a store on Main street and before it was under control seven business houses, including the postoffice, were destroyed. The loss to property and stock is placed at not less than $5,000.

The stores destroyed were located on Main street, the principal street of the town. They were of frame, being one and two stories in height. Those who occupied the buildings were Moorey & Son, livery; Hanlin Brother's, butcher shop; Ewing's restaurant, Nobles jewelry store, postoffice, general store of Poole McGee and John Fair.

The cause of the fire is not known. It was discovered in the Jacob Morley building about 2 o'clock, and within half an hour the entire block was in flames. At 5 o'clock this morning the fire was under control.

The insurance on the building was very light, Poole & McGee having their stock insured for $5,000, and S. G. Fair, for $3,500.

strange Things in Nova Scotia.

It was here I met a woman who had never seen a peach, a young lady who had never owned a box of chocolates and, best of all, a handsome, intelligent young fellow who had never seen a drunken man. It was here I attended a concert consisting of songs, recitations, organ solos and a duet, all furnished by one woman. The duet, she announced, was between herself and the organ, the organ taking the soprano and she the alto.—Bay of Fundy Letter in New York Post.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 1, "Our Own Church"—Text, Ps. cxvii, 1-9.

"Peace be within thy walls and prosperity within thy palaces."

The motto given by Bishop Matthew Simpson to the Epworth League at the time of its formation is the sentiment given for consideration this week.

"We live to make our church a power in the land while we live to love every other church that exalts our Christ."

It is advised that every chapter have a meeting, led by the pastor, to discuss denominational work. One of the first things which impresses an observer in meeting a live Christian worker is his denominational loyalty. That was a characteristic mark of all the best workers of both Old Testament and New Testament times. Love of one's own church—true love—is apt to be coupled with respect for every other true church.

Every Leaguer should make himself acquainted with the outlines at least of the history of the Methodist Episcopal church and should be intelligently acquainted with our special views and customs and know why we hold to these peculiarities. We should also have a good knowledge of the characteristics of each of the other great denominations in our own community. Besides this, we ought to be well posted as to the connectional benevolent societies, their past history and present standing. The most thrilling romances ever written are not more fascinating than the facts frequently coming to the surface as we study the progress of our church in different lands.

The more we learn of the noble men and women who are associated with us in the work of our church around the world, the more we meet with rank and file from various localities as well as with the leaders of the host, the more we shall appreciate the grandeur of our calling, the heroism of the workers, the pressing needs on every side, the call for steadfast courage and diligence on our own part.

Boasting and pride are at a great discount. Mere numbers are of small value. The spirit which impels us is the point of great value. Loyalty to our associates, our denominational mission and our personal opportunities is a grand way of cultivating allegiance to Jesus Christ.

Walls of Defense.

There is danger as well as helplessness in the spirit of liberality which is so influential at the present time. The wider the circle of our acquaintance the more do we find diversities of views on vital points. We are often surprised to find men of much experience and education holding opinions we had supposed were erroneous and doing things we have been taught were wrong. Our own belief and practices are put to severe tests as we enlarge our world of observation until it sometimes makes us wonder if, after all, there is any fixed standard of truth and any real rule of right.

Then comes the plausible explanation that all depends on personal conviction and sincerity, that every one has a right to his own opinion, and the test of all right and truth is your sincerity in holding to it.

But there are truth and right and duty, and their test is not the opinion of any one nor his imperfect practice. Differences of belief and habits only show the many-sidedness of life, the imperfections of the best judgments and the need of diligence and care to learn the real way and train our powers to do the best.

The value of the doctrines of our church lies at this point. They should be known by our young people and, if known, will prove a wall of defense against assaults of ignorance and bigotry and doubt. These doctrines are not the utterances of any one man or company of men, but are the great foundation principles of divine truth, holding firm through all ages and worlds. They are the prominent teachings of the Bible and are the sure facts on which faith can rest securely. Every chapter should spend some time in the study of our foundations of belief and practice, know what it is to be a Methodist and be one from conviction and intelligence. There is no defensive protection so valuable as conviction based on knowledge.

Barriers and Boulevards.

The old fortifications which formerly surrounded Paris were some years since leveled and made into a grand boulevard. At the same time wide and beautiful avenues were cut through some of the oldest and most densely populated parts of the city, opening up the slums and letting light, air and publicity into quarters which were previously filled with squalor and crime.

In the progress of the present century much the same thing has occurred in the churches. It is not so long ago that loyalty to one's own church and creed was supposed to necessitate the denial of the truth of all other beliefs and the withholding of fellowship from those who did not agree in all points. Each church seemed to hedge and wall itself in from all others and from the world. The change in these things has been one of the marked improvements of recent years. Beliefs have been modified by wider knowledge and are no longer so narrow as formerly. Men as a whole believe no less firmly, creeds are no less clearly held than before, but they are more reasonable and more inclusive.

Exclusiveness in fellowship has been greatly modified. People of all creeds and peculiarities of worship meet, debate, worship and work together. The walls of separation have been thrown down and made into thoroughfares for service of God. Barriers are made boulevards, and blocks of defense are pavements over which chariots of human progress roll freely. Put your prejudices under foot and find your best defense in fraternal love and co-operation.

RECORD-BREAKING YEAR.

September the Twelfth Month of Surprising Volume of Business, Says Dun's Review.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade issued today said in part:

September is the twelfth consecutive month in which the volume of business, both at New York and outside New York, has been greater than in the same month of any previous year. In these 12 months payments through the clearinghouse have been $89,600,000,000, against $61,200,000,000 in the 12 months ending with September, 1892, an increase of $28,400,000,000, over 46 per cent. When the tremendous expansion began men called it replenishment of long depleted stocks; then for a time it was called a crazy outburst of speculation, and when demand still expanded some permanent increase of business was recognized as a result of increased population earning better wages. But the demand still grows, now ranging 60 per cent greater than in 1892, while population, according to treasury estimates, is 16 per cent greater, and wages are not over 10 per cent greater. A reconstruction of business and industries, of producing and transporting forces, is in progress throughout the land with results which none can now measure.

Iron consumption instead of 750,000 tons per month in 1892 is now over 1,200,000 tons per month and yet is so far behind the demand for products that the capacity of most works is sold far out into next year. With sales of 20,000 tons at Pittsburgh, Bessemer pig rose to $23.50, Chicago coke and southern pig again rose $1 and new turnaces are sold many months ahead before they begin work. Bars are hard to get at any price, the whole output of the Republic company being sold to January and $2.25 is quoted for common at Pittsburgh, while at Chicago the great demand for car building fails on work overworked. Contracts for 8,000 ton plates have been placed at Pittsburgh, and at all points the price is rising with astonishing demand. Sheets are also higher, with the demand intensified by renewed efforts for consolidation.

The wool market is active with a general advance averaging half a cent on washed fleece combing and some unwashed; the entire list quoted by Coates Brothers, probably averages about one quarter cent higher. Heavyweight wools are well cleaned up, and of spring worsteds many lines are withdrawn, the days being nominally advanced to $1.15 with some fancy worsteds 5 per cent higher.

Wheat exports from Atlantic and Pacific ports have been 4,294,386 bushels for the past week, flour included, against 4,861,022 bushels last year, and in four weeks 12,951,363 bushels, against 15,061,864 bushels last year. The foreign demand has aided to sustain prices, which closed 7c higher than last week, although western receipts have been 29,129,518 bushels in the past four weeks, against 21,929,573 bushels last year. Corn is unchanged in price and still in large foreign demand, exports in four weeks 12,155,904 bushels, against 8,133,641 bushels last year, with western receipts of 24,433,874 bushels, against 15,319,292 bushels last year.

Wood Tar.

It is curious to note that wood tar is prepared just as it was in the fourth century. B. C. A bark is chosen and a hole dug, into which the wood is placed, covered with turf. A fire is lighted underneath, and the tar slowly drips into the barrels placed to receive it.

UNION LABELS.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

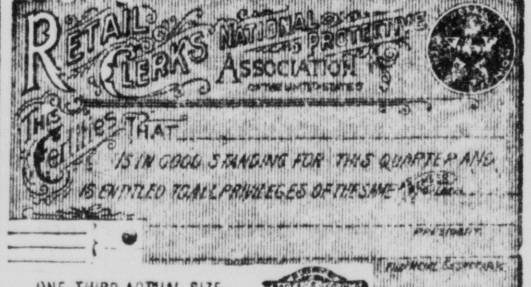

The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours and union labor employed.

All Union papers of East Liverpool are known to the various craft and unions of the city by the printing of the above Union Labels at the head of their columns.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 1, "Our Own Church"—Text, Ps. cxlii, 1-9.

"Peace be within thy walls and prosperity within thy palaces."

The motto given by Bishop Matthew Simpson to the Epworth League at the time of its formation is the sentiment given for consideration this week.

"We live to make our church a power in the land while we live to love every other church that exalts our Christ."

It is advised that every chapter have a meeting, led by the pastor, to discuss denominational work. One of the first things which impresses an observer in meeting a live Christian worker is his denominational loyalty. That was a characteristic mark of all the best workers of both Old Testament and New Testament times. Love of one's own church—true love—is apt to be coupled with respect for every other true church.

Every Leaguer should make himself acquainted with the outlines at least of the history of the Methodist Episcopal church and should be intelligently acquainted with our special views and customs and know why we hold to these peculiarities. We should also have a good knowledge of the characteristics of each of the other great denominations in our own community. Besides this, we ought to be well posted as to the connectional benevolent societies, their past history and present standing. The most thrilling romances ever written are not more fascinating than the facts frequently coming to the surface as we study the progress of our church in different lands.

The more we learn of the noble men and women who are associated with us in the work of our church around the world, the more we meet with rank and file from various localities as well as with the leaders of the host, the more we shall appreciate the grandeur of our calling, the heroism of the workers, the pressing needs on every side, the call for steadfast courage and diligence on our own part.

Boasting and pride are at a great discount. Mere numbers are of small value. The spirit which impels us is the point of great value. Loyalty to our associates, our denominational mission and our personal opportunities is a grand way of cultivating allegiance to Jesus Christ.

Walls of Defense.

There is danger as well as helpfulness in the spirit of liberality which is so influential at the present time. The wider the circle of our acquaintance the more do we find diversities of views on vital points. We are often surprised to find men of much experience and education holding opinions we had supposed were erroneous and doing things we have been taught were wrong. Our own belief and practices are put to severe tests as we enlarge our world of observation until it sometimes makes us wonder if, after all, there is any fixed standard of truth and any real rule of right.

Then comes the plausible explanation that all depends on personal conviction and sincerity, that every one has a right to his own opinion, and the test of all right and truth is your sincerity in holding to it.

But there are truth and right and duty, and their test is not the opinion of any one nor his imperfect practice. Differences of belief and habits only show the many sidedness of life, the imperfections of the best judgments and the need of diligence and care to learn the real way and train our powers to do the best.

The value of the doctrines of our church lies at this point. They should be known by our young people and, if known, will prove a wall of defense against assaults of ignorance and bigotry and doubt. These doctrines are not the utterances of any one man or company of men, but are the great foundation principles of divine truth, holding firm through all ages and worlds. They are the prominent teachings of the Bible and are the sure facts on which faith can rest securely. Every chapter should spend some time in the study of our foundations of belief and practice, know what it is to be a Methodist and be one from conviction and intelligence. There is no defensive protection so valuable as conviction based on knowledge.

Barriers and Boulevards.

The old fortifications which formerly surrounded Paris were some years since leveled and made into a grand boulevard. At the same time wide and beautiful avenues were cut through some of the oldest and most densely populated parts of the city, opening up the slums and letting light, air and publicity into quarters which were previously filled with squalor and crime.

In the progress of the present century much the same thing has occurred in the churches. It is not so long ago that loyalty to one's own church and creed was supposed to necessitate the denial of the truth of all other beliefs and the withholding of fellowship from those who did not agree in all points. Each church seemed to hedge and wall itself in from all others and from the world. The change in these things has been one of the marked improvements of recent years. Beliefs have been modified by wider knowledge and are no longer so narrow as formerly. Men as a whole believe no less firmly, creeds are no less clearly held than before, but they are more reasonable and more inclusive.

Exclusiveness in fellowship has been greatly modified. People of all creeds and peculiarities of worship meet, debate, worship and work together. The walls of separation have been thrown down and made into thoroughfares for service of God. Barriers are made boulevards, and blocks of defense are pavements over which chariots of human progress roll freely. Put your prejudices under foot and find your best defense in fraternal love and co-operation.

RECORD-BREAKING YEAR.

September the Twelfth Month of Surprising Volume of Business, Says Dun's Review.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade issued today said in part:

September is the twelfth consecutive month in which the volume of business, both in New York and outside New York, has been greater than in the same month of any previous year. In these 12 months payments through the clearinghouses have been $89,600,000,000, against $61,200,000,000 in the 12 months ending with September, 1892, an increase of $28,400,000,000, over 46 per cent. When the tremendous expansion began men called it replenishment of long depleted stocks; then for a time it was called a crazy outburst of speculation, and when demand still expanded some permanent increase of business was recognized as a result of increased population earning better wages. But the demand still grows, now ranging 60 per cent greater than in 1892, while population, according to treasury estimates, is 16 per cent greater, and wages are not over 10 per cent greater. A reconstruction of business and industries, of producing and transporting forces, is in progress throughout the land with results which none can now measure.

Iron consumption instead of 750,000 tons per month in 1892 is now over 1,200,000 tons per month and yet is so far behind the demand for products that the capacity of most works is sold far out into next year. With sales of 20,000 tons at Pittsburgh, Bessemer pig rose to $23.50, Chicago coke and southern pig again rose $1 and new furnaces are sold many months ahead before they begin work. Bars are hard to get at any price, the waste output of the Republic company being sold to January and $2.25 is quoted for common at Pittsburgh, while at Chicago the great demand for car building tails on works over crowded. Contracts for 8,000 tons plates have been placed at Pittsburgh, and at all points the price is rising with astonishing demand. Sheets are also higher, with the demand intensified by renewed efforts for consolidation.

The wool market is active with a general advance averaging half a cent on washed fleece combing and some unwashed; the entire list quoted by Coates Brothers, probably averages about one quarter cent higher. Heavyweight wools are well cleaned up, and of spring worsteds many lines are withdrawn, the clays being nominally advanced to $1.15 with some fancy worsteds 5 per cent higher.

Wheat exports from Atlantic and Pacific ports have been 4,294,386 bushels for the past week, flour included, against 4,861,022 bushels last year, and in four weeks 12,951,263 bushels, against 15,061,864 bushels last year. The foreign demand has aided to sustain prices, which closed 1/2c higher than last week, although western receipts have been 29,129,518 bushels in the past four weeks, against 21,930,573 bushels last year. Corn is unchanged in price and still in large foreign demand, exports in four weeks 12,155,904 bushels, against 8,133,641 bushels last year, with western receipts of 24,433,874 bushels, against 15,319,292 bushels last year.

Wood Tar.

It is curious to note that wood tar is prepared just as it was in the fourth century. B. C. A bark is chosen and a hole dug, into which the wood is placed, covered with turf. A fire is lighted underneath, and the tar slowly drips into the barrels placed to receive it.

UNION LABELS.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours and union labor employed.

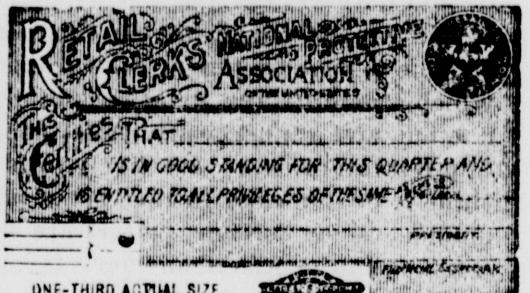

UNION PAPERS.

All Union papers of East Liverpool are known to the various craft and unions of the city by the printing of the above Union Labels at the head of their columns.

PATRONIZE UNION CLERKS.

UNION MADE BOOTS AND SHOES.

The Boot and Shoe Workers' union is the national head of the trade, and is a new combination of all the branches of boot and shoe workers. The above trade-mark when found on the sole or lining of a boot or shoe, is a guarantee that the same is made by union labor. Look for the above design stamped on the sole of every pair of boots or shoes you buy.

CUSTOM TAILORS' LABEL.

The Journeymen Tailors' Label is to be found in the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the under side of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants. It is printed in black ink on white linen.

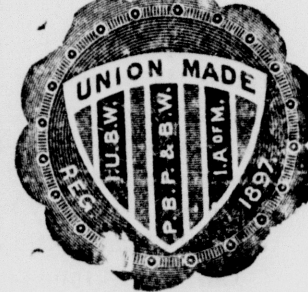

UNION MADE CLOTHES.

You will find the linen label attached by machine stitching to the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the inside of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants.

BICYCLE LABEL.

"Do unto others as ye would that others should do unto you." You will endorse the "Golden Rule" by buying and riding bicycles bearing this label. The colors are as follows: The Union shield is in red, white and blue, on a background of pea green, bordered by gold. The label will be placed on the upper front side of the tube that receives the seat post.

UNION BREAD AND CRACKERS.

This is a full size facsimile of the Label of the Bakers' and Confectioners' union. It is printed on fine white paper and is pasted on each loaf of union-made bread. It is an evidence that the bread is made under fair and wholesome conditions, and in clean and healthy bakeries. Following is the confectioners' and cracker label:

GEN. OTIS TO CONFER.

Going to Angeles to Meet the Rebel Commission.

AMERICAN PRISONERS EXPECTED.

Two Reconnoitering Parties Came Into
Collision With the Insurgents—Four Americans Wounded—Lieutenant Howland Visited Rebel Outposts.

MANILA, Sept. 30.—(9:45 a. m.)—Generals Otis and Schwan and possibly Generals Lawton and Bates will proceed to Angeles, where they may confer
with Filipino commissioners, as the result of an exchange of communications between General MacArthur and the insurgents.

A Filipino general is expected with the American prisoners.

Two reconnoitering parties came into collision with the insurgents near Imus
and four Americans were wounded.

MANILA, Sept. 30.—General Mac-
Arthur's command returned to Angeles,
where the Generals MacArthur, Wheaton and Wheeler established their headquarters with 3,000 troops. It is expected they will remain there until a general advance is ordered. There are no troops at Porac.

Nine Americans were wounded in Thursday's fighting, two probably fatally. It was estimated that 50 insurgents were killed or wounded.

The American prisoners were expected here today, unless Thursday's whipping changed Aguinaldo's mind.

A Filipino general, an aide-de-camp
and a secretary, it was expected, will accompany them to Manila. The insurgents have been instructed that they may send a representative to confer with Major General Otis. The regiments are resting at Porac.

The Spanish commissioners who recently spent a month at Tarlac arrived
at Angeles.

The commissioners said they were confident they will arrange for the interchange of all the Spanish prisoners.

Lieutenant Howland of General
Wheaton's staff visited the inner lines
of Filipino outposts, presumably to notify them that the Spanish commissioners were coming. He met with a friendly reception.

GEN. OTIS TO CONFER.

Going to Angeles to Meet the Rebel Commission.

AMERICAN PRISONERS EXPECTED.

Two Reconnoitering Parties Came Into Collision With the Insurgents—Four Americans Wounded—Lieutenant Howland Visited Rebel Outposts.

MANILA, Sept. 30.—(9:45 a. m.)—Gen. Otis and Schwan and possibly Generals Lawton and Bates will proceed to Angeles, where they may confer with Filipino commissioners, as the result of an exchange of communications between General MacArthur and the insurgents.

A Filipino general is expected with the American prisoners.

Two reconnoitering parties came into collision with the insurgents near Imus and four Americans were wounded.

MANILA, Sept. 30.—General MacArthur's command returned to Angeles, where the Generals MacArthur, Wheaton and Wheeler established their headquarters with 3,000 troops. It is expected they will remain there until a general advance is ordered. There are no troops at Porac.

Nine Americans were wounded in Thursday's fighting, two probably fatally. It was estimated that 50 insurgents were killed or wounded.

The American prisoners were expected here today, unless Thursday's whipping changed Aguinaldo's mind.

A Filipino general, an aide-de-camp and a secretary, it was expected, will accompany them to Manila. The insurgents have been instructed that they may send a representative to confer with Major General Otis. The regiments are resting at Porac.

The Spanish commissioners who recently spent a month at Tarlac arrived at Angeles.

The commissioners said they were confident they will arrange for the liberation of all the Spanish prisoners.

Lieutenant Howland of General Wheaton's staff visited the inner lines of Filipino outposts, presumably to notify them that the Spanish commissioners were coming. He met with a friendly reception.

Head of the House.

"Is a woman the head of the house?" was the question propounded to Secretary Brent of the Virginia state board of education in a letter received from Goochland county. Mr. Brent is a diplomat and, by the reply which he sent, it may be decided without doubt this correspondent was a woman. He told her that so far as his knowledge went, she was "head of the house"—de facto, but he would have to investigate further before he could say whether she was de jure. This same question was raised in the United States court a few weeks ago, when Mrs. Marion H. Richardson filed a petition in bankruptcy in which she claimed the exemption of certain household goods from liability for debts. The referee decided that the exemption law applied only to the "head of the house," and that a woman who is living with her husband and is supported by him cannot be considered as such. Judge Edmund Waddill, Jr., sustained the referee and allowed an appeal from his decision. The case will probably be heard in the United States circuit court this fall.

General Reagiffa Drowned.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The Colombian legation has received an official cablegram from Bogota announcing that General Julio Reagiffa, until recently the Colombian representative in Washington and one of the best-known South American diplomatists, has been drowned. WHITE HOUSE CHANGES.

The Edifice Undergoes Alterations With Each Presidential Family.

During the absence of President and Mrs. McKinley from Washington Colonel Bingham, superintendent of public buildings and grounds had a large force of workmen employed in renovating and repairing the executive mansion, and this work is being hurried to completion.

It is quite a noticeable and interesting fact that the White House bears in a measure the individuality of every lady who has had the honor to reside there and by whom the expensive decorations and furnishings have been in a great measure planned. It has been sought to preserve the colonial appearance of the mansion, but through the varying tastes for decorations very little of the colonial atmosphere of the interior remains.

The historic traditions of the mansion could be as well preserved perhaps if the president no longer continued to reside there, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. There is scarcely any doubt the American people, in view of the interest which has always attached to the White House, would gladly bear the expense of keeping it as it now stands, as Mount Vernon and Arlington are maintained. More historic traditions clustered around the old capitol than about the White House, but this fact did not prevent congress from altering it to suit its convenience and needs whenever desirable or necessary.

If the White House had never been altered from the day of its erection to the present time except to make necessary repairs, it would be of much more historical interest than it is, or if it had received extensive additions from time to time, such as the great castles in England, it would then present an interesting appearance. But as it is no extensive alterations have ever been made, but one president after another has snipped off a little here and added a little there, inside and outside, until the White House is neither purely colonial nor modern, but a patchwork of both.

Reading the Bible.

Give the Bible a chance! It appears very often that ministers are of the opinion of the old lady who called all the church services the "trimmin's to the sermon" and of "no account." It is surprising to hear how badly some ministers can and do read the Scriptures. It would be strange if the people had much regard for the Bible after the minister had shown so little.—Universalist Leader.

The historic traditions of the mansion could be as well preserved perhaps if the president no longer continued to reside there, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. There is scarcely any doubt the American people, in view of the interest which has always attached to the White House, would gladly bear the expense of keeping it as it now stands, as Mount Vernon and Arlington are maintained. More historic traditions clustered around the old capitol than about the White House, but this fact did not prevent congress from altering it to suit its convenience and needs whenever desirable or necessary.

If the White House had never been altered from the day of its erection to the present time except to make necessary repairs, it would be of much more historical interest than it is, or if it had received extensive additions from time to time, such as the great castles in England, it would then present an interesting appearance. But as it is no extensive alterations have ever been made, but one president after another has snipped off a little here and added a little there, inside and outside, until the White House is neither purely colonial nor modern, but a patchwork of both.

Reading the Bible.

Give the Bible a chance! It appears very often that ministers are of the opinion of the old lady who called all the church services the "trimmin's to the sermon" and of "no account." It is surprising to hear how badly some ministers can and do read the Scriptures. It would be strange if the people had much regard for the Bible after the minister had shown so little.—Universalist Leader.

MILES OF MARCHERS

Land Pageant In Dewey's Honor Today.

THOUSANDS WERE IN LINE.

The Admiral Cheered by Masses of Enthusiastic Humanity.

MARCHERS PASSED BEFORE HIM.

The Most Notable Event of the Kind the World Has Ever Seen — The Admiral Led the Parade Until He Reached the Reviewing Stand at Madison Square. New York, Sept. 30. — Marching thousands, along whose line of parade millions flocked and cheered in honor of the great hero of Manila bay, passed in review before the foremost American in this city today.

It was a scene of great patriotism.

NEW YORK'S DEWEY ARCH.

the like of which the world before had never witnessed.

About 8 o'clock this morning Admiral Dewey reached the Battery, having been escorted there by a special committee.

He was then taken to city hall, where he met the mayor and party in the governor's room. Here he was presented with a loving cup.

About 10 a. m. the admiral and the special guests were driven to the foot of Warren street and embarked on the Sandy Hook for Grant's tomb. Lunch was served to 500 on the boat during the 25-minute run up the river.

About 11 o'clock the parade moved in the following order:

Sousa's band.
Crew of the Olympia
Admiral Dewey and Mayor Van Wyck in a carriage.
Five captains in the battle of Manila bay in carriages.
Dewey's personal staff in carriages.
Admiral Sampson in a carriage with Randolph Guggenheimer.
Admiral Sampson's staff in carriages.
Rear Admiral Howison and staff.
Chairman of the board of aldermen, T. A. Woods, in a carriage with Admiral Philip.
Admiral Philip's staff in carriages.
Junior officers of the Olympia in carriages.
Junior officers of the North Atlantic squadron in carriages.
Governors of the states in the order of their admission to the Union. Each governor rode alone in a carriage, with the exception of Governor Roosevelt, who rode on horseback at the head of the New York national guard.

Major General Nelson A. Miles and aides.

Joint committee of the municipal assembly, consisting of 14 members.

Admiral Schley in a carriage with Admiral Miller.

Sailors of the North Atlantic squadron.

Soldiers of the regular army.

Military organizations from different states, including Pennsylvania and Ohio troops.

The Tenth Pennsylvania, which had fought in the Philippines, attracted great enthusiasm.

The fireworks display last night was stupendous. From eight different points in Greater New York fireworks were exhibited, the grandest display being at the Battery. Admiral Dewey witnessed the display at Grant's tomb.

At night, viewed from the roofs of any of the tall buildings down town, New York appeared an enchanted city. The great buildings were bright with dazzling light and gorgeous colors. On the rivers were fairy barges in the sky flashing shafts of blue. The water seemed a ribbon of lambent flame.

Brooklyn bridge was a halo of glory from end to end, the feature being an electrical welcome to Dewey. Great searchlights played from Brooklyn over the East river.

The first function of Friday was the call of Mayor Van Wyck and the reception committee, to formally welcome Admiral Dewey to the city. With the mayor and party were the governors of some of the states.

The Sandy Hook proceeded to within a short distance of the Olympia, where she was joined by the policeboat Porcupine. The mayor, accompanied by his private secretary, Al Downed, Hon. Randolph Guggenheimer, president of the council, and Hon. Thomas P. Woods, president of the board of aldermen, was transferred to the Patrol, which, in turn, transferred the party to Admiral Dewey's flagship. Lieutenant Brumby, Dewey's flag officer, met the party at the gangway and escorted them to the afterdeck, where Admiral Dewey stood resplendent in an admiral's uniform. After the usual formalities, Mayor Van Wyck stepped forward, formally welcomed Dewey and extended to him and his officers and gallant crew the freedom of the city.

The mayor said: "With pleasure and by direction of the city of New York I meet you at her magnificent gateway to extend to you in her name and of her million visitors, leading citizens of 45 states representing almost every hamlet in the nation, a most cordial welcome, congratulating you on being restored to family and home. A loving and grateful nation is gladdened by your safe return from the most remarkable voyage of history, so far-reaching in its results that the clearest mind cannot yet penetrate the distance. It has already softened the voices of other nations in speaking of ours; changed permanently the map of the world; enlarged the field of American pride and completed the circle of empire in its western course.

"Your courage, skill and wisdom, exhibited in a single naval engagement of a few hours, brought victory to your country's arms, and then you dealt with your country's new relations to the world with the judgment of a trained diplomat. By common consent you have been declared warrior and statesman, one who wears the military uniform until the enemy surrenders and then dons the habit of the diplomat. The greatest reception awaits you that was ever tendered military or civil hero. Such an outpouring of people was never dreamed of before. Never has the heart of America turned with such perfect accord and trusting confidence to one of her sons as it does to you. I place at your disposal the freedom and unlimited hospitality of the city of New York."

The admiral responded: "Mr. Mayor and Gentlemen—Of course it would be needless for me to attempt to make a speech, but my heart appreciates all that you have said. How it is that you have overrated my work so much I cannot understand. It is beyond anything I can conceive of why there should be such an uprising of the country. I simply did what any naval captain in the service would have done, I believe."

To this the mayor replied: "Admiral, no tongue can ever utter, or pen write an overestimate of what you did for your country."

Continuing the mayor said: "The city of New York has had made to commemorate this reception to you, the hero of the Spanish-American war, a badge, a facsimile of which they desire I should present to you in commemoration of the event," at the same time handing to Admiral Dewey the gold medal which the city had made for him. Dewey's eyes shone as he received the gift.

"How magnificent, how beautiful,

how splendid," he exclaimed. "Oh, that is too beautiful." Here he called his Chinese servant and said to him: "Now pin that there, sir," pointing to his breast, "so it won't drop off."

Admiral Dewey inquired after the health of General Butterfield and had a brief chat.

The function ended Admiral Dewey's chief of staff informed the mayor that the admiral would return the call in 15 minutes. The mayor and his party then returned to Sandy Hook, and at the appointed time Dewey, accompanied by his chief of staff and his flag lieutenant, boarded the Sandy Hook, and the 400 persons aboard had a chance to see him at close range. It was impossible to present him personally to all on board, but a number of the distinguished guests were so favored. Meantime there was a great deal of saluting and waving of flags, and for some minutes the din was deafening. It was going toward noon when the admiral returned to his flagship.

Among the invited guests on the Sandy Hook were the governors of a number of states, the justices of the supreme court of the United States, a number of city officials, the members of Admiral Dewey's family, Archbishop Corrigan, Senator Depew, Richard Croker and Seth Low. Among the governors on board were the following: Sweeney of South Carolina, Rollins of New Hampshire, Dyer of Rhode Island,

THE DEWEY LOVING CUP.

Richards of Wyoming, McMillan of Tennessee and Stone of Pennsylvania. It was 1 o'clock when the naval parade got under way.

First came the police boat Patrol, which was the apex of a wedge spreading out to the fireboats New Yorker and Van Wyck, which followed abreast. The steamer Sandy Hook having on board the mayor and the representatives of the city of New York with their standards flying from the fore and aft masts, steamed alongside the Olympia, the flagship of Admiral Dewey, on the port side.

The gallant admiral flew the flag of his old commander, Farragut, presented to him by Commander Baird, when the Washington committee called upon him.

After the Olympia came the armored cruiser New York, the flagship of Rear Admiral Sampson, with her big turrets and guns appearing like a moving fortress as she followed in the wake of the admiral's flagship. The Chicago brought up the rear of the column. Following the New York were the two first-class battleships Indiana and Massachusetts. In the rear of these modern engines of war came the Lancaster, the type of the old navy vessels of the Hartford class. Then followed the gunboat Marietta, small by comparison with the Lancaster, with the auxiliary cruiser Scorpion behind.

Abreast steamed the torpedo boats Porter, Dupont, Ericsson, Winslow and Cushing, and following them came the natty revenue cutters Manning, Algonquin, Gresham, Windom and Onondaga. Next in line were the transports, Sedgwick, McPherson and McClellan and after them came alone the hospital ship Missouri.

Then began the civic and maritime aspect of the parade. Flying the flag of the state of New York, and having on board the representatives of the naval militia, came the steamer Monmouth, followed by other boats with members of the naval militia. In single file came the General Slocum and Glen Island, with the members of the general committee of citizens; the Mount Hope, with the legislative branch of the city government; the Warwick, with the heads of the city departments, and the Matteawan, with members of the press.

Then followed, two abreast, 98 graceful, magnificently appointed yachts, led by the Corsair, the flagship of Commodore J. Pierpont Morgan, and Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht Erin.

Sir Thomas Lipton and his yacht were given an uproarious ovation.

After the yachts came 100 steamships of the merchant marine, with three masted ships in single file, then five steamers abreast, and the remainder in files of two.

The third and last division of the parade consisted of more than 100 handsomely decorated tugs, yachts, pleasure craft, etc. There were side-wheelers, propellers, electric boats and everything except a sailing vessel.

It was nearly 2 o'clock when the Olympia came abreast of the Battery, and the acclaim of the populace began. Admiral Dewey stood on the quarter-deck, surrounded by his officers, while the men lined the rails, waving their caps in answer to the cheers of the multitude. So they passed up the river, receiving everywhere a tremendous ovation.

The inspiring scenes and patriotic demonstrations reached a climax when the Olympia gracefully swung round the stake boat St. Mary, which was anchored off the tomb of General Grant, plainly visible on a bluff in Riverside park, and she let go with all her guns and a full general's salute in honor of the hero whose ashes reposed nearby. Slowly the cruiser came about, and, dropping below the allegorical float "Peace" and "Victory," came to anchor. The bluffs on both sides of the river were black with people, and their cheering for some minutes was deafening. As the roar died away the members of the Liederkreis and Arion societies, who were aboard the floats, sang patriotic airs in welcome of the admiral.

Meantime the warships, one by one, passed around the stakeboat and anchored below the Olympia till their line reached from off the tomb to Seventy-second street. Torpedoboats, revenue cutters, transports and yachts took a station close in shore, under the bluff at Riverside, this line reaching to Seventy-second street, too. Through the lane thus formed the merchant marine and excursion boats marched through in review, the warships meanwhile thundering forth salutes.

After the merchant marine and excursion boats had passed down the river the steam yachts followed.

One of the most delightful features of the day was the hearty way in which the members of the Dewey family enjoyed every detail of the tribute to their great kinsman. Under the guidance of Edward Wilkins Dewey, a nephew of the admiral, who has been a New Yorker for years, the family party left the Waldorf-Astoria, going to Battery park, where they boarded the steamer Sandy Hook, Mayor Van Wyck being in waiting for them.

"This is the grandest celebration I have ever seen," said Charles Dewey, after the parade, "and I am an old man and have traveled much in this country and twice in Europe. I have seen triumphs and celebrations there. Not one of them ever began to approach this in magnificence and beauty. It is the Lord's day. He is with us. The skies are bright and the sun is smiling upon us. Everything contributes to the success of the pageant. We heard a great deal before we came here about how great the triumph would be, but nothing like this stupendous outburst ever entered our minds. The love, the admiration of the American people for the admiral is wonderful."

It is estimated that 2,500,000 people witnessed the naval parade.

VERY NEAR TO WAR

Boers May Declare Martial Law Today.

ENGLAND TO SEND PROPOSALS.

Believed the Transvaal Will Commit an Overt Act Before Parliament Can Be Assembled — Lively Activity on the Part of the Burghers Reported.

CAPE TOWN, Sept. 30.—It is reported that the Boers may declare martial law today or Monday.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—An official of the foreign office said that the cabinet, in the absence of the Transvaal's reply, had agreed to draft a dispatch formulating its own proposals, which will be communicated to the Transvaal government in a few days. Parliament will be called shortly to consider the situation. The government declines to furnish exact information at present regarding the military movements.

The Pall Mall Gazette says it understands that Mr. Chamberlain submitted a dispatch to the cabinet council containing the following demands on the Transvaal:

First—Five years' franchise qualification without hampering conditions.

Second—Municipal self-government at Johannesburg on a freely-elected basis.

Third—The separation of the judiciary from the executive, and its independence of the volksraad.

Fourth—The abolition of the dynamite monopoly.

Fifth—The removal of the fort dominating Johannesburg, though the defenses at Pretoria may remain.

Sixth—The teaching of the English language in the schools.

Indications lead to the belief that in view of the cabinet message, the Boers will probably commit an overt act which will bring on hostilities before the assembling of parliament. All the latest dispatches from the Transvaal show the keenest activity on the part of the Burghers. Telegrams from Pretoria announce that artillery is being rapidly loaded at the station for the front and that military trains have preference on all lines.

A large body of Burghers left for the Natal border, and another for Middleburg. Detachments of cyclists were being distributed among the different commanders. It is understood that the first contingent of the Pretoria force will leave for the eastern border today.

CAPE TOWN, Sept. 30.—The Transvaal's reply to the last dispatches of the British secretary of state for the colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, was sent from Pretoria. It was to the effect that the republic strictly adhered to the London convention and asked nothing further. The question of the suzerainty of Great Britain over the Transvaal was not touched upon in the dispatch.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 1.—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Our own church. What can we do for her?—Pa. cxvii, 1-9. (A meeting to discuss denominational work, led by the pastor.)

This psalm is a pilgrim song. It was undoubtedly composed with reference to one of the great yearly festivals, when the caravans of pilgrims went up to the holy city. The psalmist rejoices in the call of his friends and neighbors to come and go up to the house of the Lord. The procession moves forward. Jerusalem is reached. "Our feet are standing within thy gates, O Jerusalem!" He describes the city of Jerusalem and bursts into prayer for her peace and prosperity. This psalm and its surroundings suggest that—

1. We should be devoted to our own church. What devotion for Jerusalem and the temple possessed the heart of the poet who wrote this psalm! He loved Jerusalem; he looked upon the holy city; he admired her stateliness and beauty; he rejoiced in the scenes of her early grandeur, and his heart swelled with pride as he recalled the fact that Jerusalem had been the gathering place of the tribes of Israel; that here they had given testimony unto the Lord and rendered thanks unto his name. Every Endeavorer should be thoroughly devoted to his own church. He should know her past history and rejoice in it. He should be familiar with her present greatness and should joy in that also. A spirit of loyal, true hearted devotion to the church will put us in the proper frame of mind to do all we can for her best interests and advancement.

2. We should place a high estimate upon the services of our own church. The poet was glad when the call came to go up to the house of the Lord. He was ready and anxious to go. He prized highly the privileges of God's house and considered it a pleasure and not an irksome task to attend them. Would that this spirit prevailed more in the hearts of the church people of today! Not only would the house of God be more often frequented, but from its inspiring services influences would go forth that would quicken into new life and vigor all forms of church work. It is just as possible for us to find joy in God's house as it was for the psalmist. Let us cultivate this spirit more and more. Let us learn to properly prize and appreciate the services of God's house.

3. We should pray for our own church. "Pray for the peace of Jerusalem. They shall prosper that love thee. Peace be within thy walls and prosperity within thy palaces." The peace and prosperity of our church should have constant place in our prayers, and we should also pray for the whole church of Christ, the church universal.

Bible Readings.—Ps. lvi, 1-15; lxxxiv, 1-12; lxxxvii, 1-7; c, 1-5; cxvi, 17-19; cxxxv, 1-5; cxxxvii, 1-6; Math. xiii, 16-20; Acts ii, 42-47; xx, 28; Eph. v, 25, 29; Heb. x, 23-25.

Veil Will Be Lifted.

The time will undoubtedly come when "in Thy light we shall see light." The afflictions of the present resemble what the fissures and unsightly gashes were to the Israelites when encamped beneath the savage cliffs of Sinai. Their gloom and terror and mystery were all gone when beheld at the far distance in the flush of evening. So, too, will your experiences of trial be when seen bathed in the glory of unsetting suns. What now is like the tolling of funeral bells will then appear rather to have been preparatory and preparation chimes, ringing in the festal worshippers to the church of the glorified. No purpose of God regarding you will remain unfulfilled, no flower uncrowned with blossom.—J. R. Macduff, D. D.

The Gift of God.

Perhaps no cry in Cairo is more striking than that of the water carrier. "The gift of God!" he cries as he goes along with the waterskin on his shoulder. It is very likely that water, so invaluable and so often scarce in hot countries, was in Christ's day spoken of, as now, as "the gift of God," to denote its preciousness. If so, Jesus' expression to the woman would be very forcible.—"Ragged Life In Egypt."

In Touch With All Spiritual Work.

A pastor should be in touch with every part of the congregational work, so far as to know that all is being carried on, but he should have direct part in all the spiritual work. If he is a stranger in the Sabbath school and young people's meeting, he will find that the bonds between him and his people are not increasing in strength or tenderness.—United Presbyterian.

"So you've set up a hired girl" said farmer Muchland to his son. "Your mother never had a hired girl. She worked early and late, and raised a family. Hired girl indeed! Look at your mother, sr."

"It's just looking at mother" said the son. "made me resolve that my children's mother should never look like her, worn out in her prime."

In the partnership of marriage women give twice as much as men. They give equal work, and they give themselves, their very life. Children come. No chance for rest, work must go on. Inflammation, ulceration, debilitating drains and female weakness, undermine the health and shock the nervous system. In a few years the woman is worn out.

Women who have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription say that they can do their own work and keep their strength and good looks. It cures inflammation, ulceration, female weakness and unhealthy drains.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free of charge.

"About two years ago my health became very poor from female weakness and troubles peculiar to my sex; in fact I was so weak and feeble that I was able to do but little work," writes Mrs. Josie M. Guess, of Baileytown, Cullman Co., Ala. "I decided to buy me a bottle or two of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and give it a trial. I took two bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' and one vial of the 'Pellets' and these proved to be all I needed. I felt stout and well after taking Dr. Pierce's medicine and have been doing my work with more satisfaction than I had ever felt before."

At 2:45 this morning a telephone message was received at the central fire station from Irondale requesting aid. Chief Morley prepared to send several men, 800 feet of hose and the steamer, but after waiting until about 4 o'clock another message was received stating the fire was under control and the department would not be needed. The hose wagon was taken to the street and everything was in readiness to place on cars within eight minutes after the request had been made.

A similar request was made to the Wellville department and the bell there calling the volunteers was actually heard in this city. The truck and 1,000 feet of hose were asked from this department, which intended to go out on the same train as the department from Liverpool.

WINE OF CARDUI

A SURE MEDICINE.

HANDSOM, VA., Dec. 31.

I have been suffering from female weakness for four years, and have taken many medicines, but Wine of Cardui and Back-Draught have done more for me than anything else.

MRS. CAROLINE EVANS.

McELREE'S
Wine of Cardui

It is a mistake to take any and every kind of medicine when you are sick. There is danger in it. Most of the so-called cures for "female weakness" do nothing more than deaden the pain temporarily, and when the effect wears away the patient is weaker and sicker than before. It is never wise to take chances. You have only one life, and that is dear and precious. If you have any pain, ache, disorder or weakness in the feminine organs, nothing will help you like Wine of Cardui. It helps do away with morning sickness during the early stages of pregnancy, and modifies the pains of childbirth; recovery is rapid and future health is assured. The Wine is purely vegetable, being made of herbs whose medicinal properties act directly upon the organs of womanhood. It is a long-tried remedy, and has many years of success behind it. It is sure. Why take a chance medicine when you can get a sure medicine?

FIREMEN AS POLICE.

A correspondent, who wishes to give honor to whom honor is due, makes the assertion that the firemen, in the last two or three years, have made as many arrests as the police department. While an examination of the records may not bear this statement out exactly it will certainly show that a tremendously large proportion of the arrests made, were made by the firemen, a much larger proportion, in fact, than even the police themselves or the public imagine. As guardians of the peace the firemen of the city have shown themselves most capable and efficient and they are deserving of commendation. If the police force did their duty as well, the city would be a much better regulated town than it has been.

SOME RESULTS.

One of the most important things for workingmen to remember is the cheerful fact that the wages paid in this country to workingmen are the highest paid to workingmen in the world, and that this condition of affairs is due almost entirely to the good work of the present tariff, a McKinley protective tariff. Another good thing to remember in this connection is the upward tendency of wages since the present tariff went into operation. Then again as a result of the beneficent effects of the tariff it is said that there are a less number of unemployed at this time in this country than for ten years.

DECISIONS ANNOUNCED

Circuit Court Hands Down Its Opinions on

SEVERAL VERY IMPORTANT CASES

Almost as Many Reversed as Were Affirmed—Two Local Cases Affirmed—Burford-Bryan Appeal Continued Until January Session.

LISBON, Sept. 30.—[Special]—The circuit court judges handed down their decisions yesterday afternoon.

In the case of H. E. Bower versus East Palestine the court made an order suggesting diminution of record and the case was continued. He was fined for selling beer on the streets of East Palestine. Plaintiff will file a more complete record.

The Justice at Fault.

In the case of W. C. Boyle versus W. G. Fawcett the judgment of common pleas was affirmed and the justice of the peace reversed. The justice in granting a new trial had continued the case for more than eight days, contrary to law.

ADMIRAL DEWEY IN CITIZEN'S DRESS.

The court accordingly ruled the justice's decision null and void.

In the McCalla case a motion had been filed in the probate court to set aside the year's allowance given by the appraisers to the widow of David McCalla, deceased, out of property in this state at the time of his death and his widow now being a resident of Kansas. The motion was allowed in probate court and the year's allowance set aside on the ground that the widow was a non-resident of the state, affirmed by the court of common pleas. Circuit court, while not passing on the real issue, held that the probate court did not have jurisdiction and that the proper place to start the action was in the court of common pleas. The judgments of probate and common pleas courts were therefore reversed and motion dismissed.

Liverpool Cases.

The judgment in the case of J. E. McDonald, plaintiff in error, versus Josephine Thompson, defendant in error, was affirmed; also in the case of John Shrader, plaintiff in error, versus Josephine Thompson, defendant in error, the judgment of common pleas court was affirmed.

The cases of George S. Walton versus Samuel Grove, Jr., and Samuel Grove, Sr., were reversed on the ground that the judgments of $144.69 were not sustained by evidence and against the weight of evidence.

In the case of I. B. Cameron, as treasurer, versus Charles M. Schmick the judgment of the court of common pleas was reversed, the circuit court holding that certain funds of the corporation held by the defendant were taxable, that he could not subtract his indebtedness to the corporation from the amount of the bonds and pay taxes on the balance, as in ordinary cases.

Edward Boyle sued the Big Vein Coal company for damages for personal injury by reason of the roof of the mine caving in, he having no knowledge that the roof was dangerous and the company not furnishing props as required by law. The company demurred to the petition and the demurrer was sustained by the court of common pleas on the ground that plaintiff did not state in his petition that he would have used props had they been furnished him. Circuit court held this was error and demurrer should have been overruled.

Important to Teachers.

The case of the board of education of Special district No. 5, of Unity township, versus Lillian L. Harris, is one that interests all teachers who teach branches additional to the common branches. February 6, 1897, Miss Harris obtained a certificate from the county board of examiners. Afterwards at two different examinations she was examined in additional higher branches, and the grades inserted in the original certificate. She had been teaching for eight weeks after receiving her certificate and before the additional branches were added, and the board of education of East Palestine refused to pay her for these eight weeks because she did not have a proper certificate. The court of common pleas held and was sustained by the circuit court that there was no evidence that the board required her to teach the higher branches, that if she was not so required but did teach them, it would not affect her pay. Evidences showed the higher branches were required taught in grade 10, but that Miss Harris was not the only teacher in that room and the court held that it could assume in the absence of evidence to the contrary that the other teachers were the ones required to teach the higher branches.

In the case of the city of Salem, plaintiff in error, versus Nettie Fawcett, the court of common pleas was affirmed. She obtained damages for a street accident.

The case of Josiah P. Caldwell versus Luther M. Duell and others was brought up on appeal, and plaintiff's title to a tract of land 100x120 in Wellsville, was quieted, and the balance of the tract was decreed to the defendant, D. T. Lawson, each party to pay his own costs.

The case of Burford Bros. and W. N. Bryan, in which the company appealed from the damages given by the common pleas court was heard, but owing to lack of time was not considered, being continued until the term beginning January 30, 1900.

THE PRICE LIST QUESTION

Continues to Be a Burning Question in the Trade Journals—Personals From City Potteries—Shipments From This City. President Hughes Busy.

President Al S. Hughes, of the Brotherhood, was in Rochester yesterday on business connected with the order.

The American Potters' Journal, in discussing the matter of advancing prices, says: "Prices are beginning to be complained of as a result of advanced cost of materials. But manufacturers find it unwise, owing to foreign competition, to raise prices at this time, knowing that such a course would not only result in increased imports, but would be speedily followed by a demand for an increase in the wages of workmen."

"Under the circumstances little can be done to advance the price of staples, which constitute the great bulk of production, and dinner ware, hotel goods and restaurant ware are likely to continue to be sold close to the cost of production, since foreign potters are dependent on the American markets, and are in no good mood now that the demand has largely increased, to lock themselves out of the market."

Mrs. James Hibbin has returned to her home in Trenton after a visit in this city. She is the wife of a kilnman at the Anchor pottery.

Reports from Beaver Falls, Pa., state that the Mayer Pottery company are rushed with orders and their pottery is running to its fullest capacity.

Decorated specialties and small novelties are in good demand, and buyers are now placing their orders for the holiday trade.

Robert Houghton and Jerry Delaney, of this city, are now employed at the Crescent pottery at Trenton.

Robert Davidson, of the East End pottery, will start at the Diamond Monday, taking charge of the big gigger.

It is said J. E. McDonald will soon locate a pottery at Chester.—Commoner and Glassworker.

China, Glass and Lamps says: "Cathage, a suburb of Cincinnati, is to have a new pottery, which is to be built by Mr. Mappes, who has been in the business a quarter of a century, and was formerly identified with the pottery at Winston Place, which the local papers claim was absorbed by the pottery trust and silenced. The latter statement will be news to Dos Passos and a lot of Ohio valley potters."

The No. 3 plant of the Greenwood Pottery company at Trenton is undergoing a thorough overhauling.

Tobe Henderson, an oddman at the Sebring pottery, became suddenly ill while at work this morning and had to be removed to his home.

The American China company, of Toronto, is preparing to make extensive improvements on its plant. Three new kilns will be built, which will give the plant a capacity of 10 kilns. The company has been very busy since it assumed control of the pottery.

Carload shipments have been made during the week by Harkers to Milwaukee; Knowles, Taylor & Knowles to St. Joseph, Mo., and Charleston, W. Va.; Dresden to Newburg and Oklahoma; Laughlins to Kalispie, Mont.

Col. W. A. Rhodes, with the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles company, was registered at the Continental hotel, Philadelphia, the early part of this week.

Crockery and Glass Journal says: "The potters of this country are on right road. They are rejecting orders not up to the standard price. The next move will be to advance prices. There is absolutely no need to wait a single day. The trade expect it, more, really want it. Then why not do it?"

President A. S. Hughes, of the Brotherhood, went to Salem this week to find out the feeling about organizing a union. Nearly all the employees said they would join. A meeting will be held Tuesday when a lodge will be organized. There are at present over 70 hands employed at the Salem pottery and quite a number will be added next week.

The potters have received the announcement that another raise on raw material had been made and that 75 cents a ton had been added to spar.

A crockery journal thinks it would be well for potteries in the United States to reproduce small figures and statuettes which are imported to this country for the holiday trade.

Mahon Cannot Talk Until After the Motormen Meet This Evening.

W. D. Mahon, of Detroit, representing the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway employees, arrived in the city last evening and registered at the Thompson House. He was seen this morning but said he could not talk until after the meeting of the motormen which will be held tonight. "I have not learned officially the wants of the men," said Mr. Mahon, "and therefore I can not talk."

Mr. Mahon said he had not held a conference with Manager Healy, and would not until Monday.

A FREIGHT WRECK.

Several Cars Damaged at the Thompson Pottery Last Evening.

A freight wreck occurred on the Cleveland and Pittsburg road at the Thompson pottery at 6 o'clock last night. An eastbound freight was being helped up the hill by the local when the engineer of the first train reversed the engine without giving a signal to the engineer of the local, causing several cars to be wrecked.

NO RELIEF.

Coal Dealers Are Still Unable to Fill Their Orders.

A very small amount of coal was brought to the city during the night. This morning several coal dealers called on Freight Agent Thomas to ascertain when they could expect their cars, but he could give them no information in the matter.

Well Patronized.

The excursion to Pittsburg today, given by the Sons of St. George, was well patronized. For the early accommodation train 861 tickets were sold, and for the noon train 400 tickets were sold. Blank excursion tickets had to be made out for all those who went up on the noon train, the supply of tickets having been exhausted before the first train left the station.

BIG FIRE IN IRONDALE

Seven Houses Destroyed Early This Morning.

THE LOSS IS OVER $5,000

The Town Wildly Excited Over the Blaze. Several Stores Were Guttered and the Postoffice Went Up In Smoke—Jewelry Store Burnt.

IRONDALE, Sept. 30.—[Special]—Early this morning fire was discovered in a store on Main street and before it was under control seven business houses, including the postoffice, were destroyed. The loss to property and stock is placed at not less than $5,000.

The stores destroyed were located on Main street, the principal street of the town. They were of frame, being one and two stories in height. Those who occupied the buildings were Moorey & Son, livery; Hanlin Brother's, butcher shop; Ewing's restaurant, Nobles jewelry store, postoffice, general store of Poole McGee and John Fair.

The cause of the fire is not known. It was discovered in the Jacob Morley building about 2 o'clock, and within half an hour the entire block was in flames. At 5 o'clock this morning the fire was under control.

The insurance on the building was very light, Poole & McGee having their stock insured for $5,000, and S. G. Fair, for $3,500.

Strange Things In Nova Scotia.

It was here I met a woman who had never seen a peach, a young lady who had never owned a box of chocolates and, best of all, a handsome, intelligent young fellow who had never seen a drunken man. It was here I attended a concert consisting of songs, recitations, organ solos and a duet, all furnished by one woman. The duet, she announced, was between herself and the organ, the organ taking the soprano and she the alto.—Bay of Fundy Letter in New York Post.

Heard a Case.

The case of J. H. Davidson against Ellen Hester for forcible detention was heard this morning in the court of Squire McLane and judgment rendered for the plaintiff.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic for the Week Beginning Oct. 1, "Our Own Church"—Text, Ps. cxlii, 1-9.

"Peace be within thy walls and prosperity within thy palaces." The motto given by Bishop Matthew Simpson to the Epworth League at the time of its formation is the sentiment given for consideration this week.

"We live to make our church a power in the land while we live to love every other church that exalts our Christ."

It is advised that every chapter have a meeting, led by the pastor, to discuss denominational work. One of the first things which impresses an observer in meeting a live Christian worker is his denominational loyalty. That was a characteristic mark of all the best workers of both Old Testament and New Testament times. Love of one's own church—true love—is apt to be coupled with respect for every other true church.

Every Leaguer should make himself acquainted with the outlines at least of the history of the Methodist Episcopal church and should be intelligently acquainted with our special views and customs and know why we hold to these peculiarities. We should also have a good knowledge of the characteristics of each of the other great denominations in our own community. Besides this, we ought to be well posted as to the connectional benevolent societies, their past history and present standing. The most thrilling romances ever written are not more fascinating than the facts frequently coming to the surface as we study the progress of our church in different lands.

The more we learn of the noble men and women who are associated with us in the work of our church around the world, the more we meet with rank and file from various localities as well as with the leaders of the host, the more we shall appreciate the grandeur of our calling, the heroism of the workers, the pressing needs on every side, the call for steadfast courage and diligence on our own part.

Boasting and pride are at a great discount. Mere numbers are of small value. The spirit which impels us is the point of great value. Loyalty to our associates, our denominational mission and our personal opportunities is a grand way of cultivating allegiance to Jesus Christ.

Walls of Defense.

There is danger as well as helpfulness in the spirit of liberality which is so influential at the present time. The wider the circle of our acquaintance the more do we find diversities of views on vital points. We are often surprised to find men of much experience and education holding opinions we had supposed were erroneous and doing things we have been taught were wrong. Our own belief and practices are put to severe tests as we enlarge our world of observation until it sometimes makes us wonder if, after all, there is any fixed standard of truth and any real rule of right.

Then comes the plausible explanation that all depends on personal conviction and sincerity, that every one has a right to his own opinion, and the test of all right and truth is your sincerity in holding to it.

But there are truth and right and duty, and their test is not the opinion of any one nor his imperfect practice. Differences of belief and habits only show the many sidedness of life, the imperfections of the best judgments and the need of diligence and care to learn the real way and train our powers to do the best.

The value of the doctrines of our church lies at this point. They should be known by our young people and, if known, will prove a wall of defense against assaults of ignorance and bigotry and doubt. These doctrines are not the utterances of any one man or company of men, but are the great foundation principles of divine truth, holding firm through all ages and worlds. They are the prominent teachings of the Bible and are the sure facts on which faith can rest securely. Every chapter should spend some time in the study of our foundations of belief and practice, know what it is to be a Methodist and be one from conviction and intelligence. There is no defensive protection so valuable as conviction based on knowledge.

Barriers and Boulevards.

The old fortifications which formerly surrounded Paris were some years since leveled and made into a grand boulevard. At the same time wide and beautiful avenues were cut through some of the oldest and most densely populated parts of the city, opening up the slums and letting light, air and publicity into quarters which were previously filled with squalor and crime.

In the progress of the present century much the same thing has occurred in the churches. It is not so long ago that loyalty to one's own church and creed was supposed to necessitate the denial of the truth of all other beliefs and the withholding of fellowship from those who did not agree in all points. Each church seemed to hedge and wall itself in from all others and from the world. The change in these things has been one of the marked improvements of recent years. Beliefs have been modified by wider knowledge and are no longer so narrow as formerly. Men as a whole believe no less firmly, creeds are no less clearly held than before, but they are more reasonable and more inclusive.

Exclusiveness in fellowship has been greatly modified. People of all creeds and peculiarities of worship meet, debate, worship and work together. The walls of separation have been thrown down and made into thoroughfares for service of God. Barriers are made boulevards, and blocks of defense are pavements over which chariots of human progress roll freely. Put your prejudices under foot and find your best defense in fraternal love and co-operation.

RECORD-BREAKING YEAR.

September the Twelfth Month of Surprising Volume of Business, Says Dun's Review.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade issued today said in part:

September is the twelfth consecutive month in which the volume of business, both at New York and outside New York, has been greater than in the same month of any previous year. In these 12 months payments through the clearinghouses have been $89,600,000,000, against $61,200,000,000 in the 12 months ending with September, 1892, an increase of $28,400,000,000, over 46 per cent. When the tremendous expansion began men called it replenishment of long depleted stocks; then for a time it was called a crazy outburst of speculation, and when demand still expanded some permanent increase of business was recognized as a result of increased population earning better wages. But the demand still grows, now ranging 60 per cent greater than in 1892, while population, according to treasury estimates, is 16 per cent greater, and wages are not over 10 per cent greater. A reconstruction of business and industries, of producing and transporting forces, is in progress throughout the land with results which none can now measure.

Iron consumption instead of 750,000 tons per month in 1892 is now over 1,200,000 tons per month and yet is so far behind the demand for products that the capacity of most works is sold far out into next year. With sales of 20,000 tons at Pittsburgh, Bessemer pig rose to $23.50, Chicago coke and southern pig again rose $1 and new furnaces are sold many months ahead before they begin work. Bars are hard to get at any price, the whole output of the Republic company being sold to January and $2.25 is quoted for common at Pittsburgh, while at Chicago the great demand for car building falls on works overcrowded. Contracts for 8,000 tons plates have been placed at Pittsburgh, and at all points the price is rising with astonishing demand. Sheets are also higher, with the demand intensified by renewed efforts for consolidation.

The wool market is active with a general advance averaging half a cent on washed fleece combing and some unwashed; the entire list quoted by Coates Brothers, probably averages about one quarter cent higher. Heavyweight wools are well cleaned up, and of spring worsteds many lines are withdrawn, the clays being nominally advanced to $1.45 with some fancy worsteds 5 per cent higher.

Wheat exports from Atlantic and Pacific ports have been 4,294,386 bushels for the past week, flour included, against 4,861,022 bushels last year, and in four weeks 12,951,263 bushels, against 15,061,864 bushels last year. The foreign demand has aided to sustain prices, which closed 5c higher than last week, although western receipts have been 29,129,518 bushels in the past four weeks, against 21,930,573 bushels last year. Corn is unchanged in price and still in large foreign demand, exports in four weeks 12,155,904 bushels, against 8,133,641 bushels last year, with western receipts of 24,433,874 bushels, against 15,319,292 bushels last year.

Wood Tar.

It is curious to note that wood tar is prepared just as it was in the fourth century. B. C. A bark is chosen and a hole dug, into which the wood is placed, covered with turf. A fire is lighted underneath, and the tar slowly drips into the barrels placed to receive it.

UNION LABELS.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours and union labor employed.

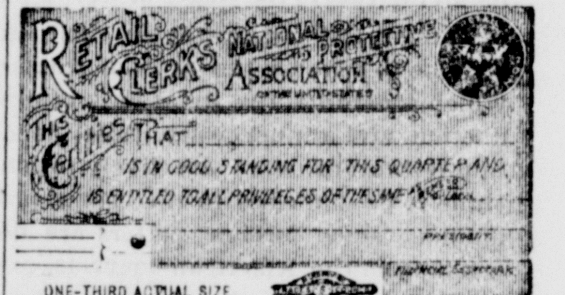

UNION PAPERS.

All Union papers of East Liverpool are known to the various craft and unions of the city by the printing of the above Union Labels at the head of their columns.

PATRONIZE UNION CLERKS.

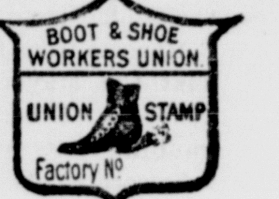

All members of the R. C. N. P. A. can show this card Ask for it when making your purchase. Endorsed by the A. F. of L.

COLOR IS CHANGED EACH QUARTER. Good only during months named in lower left hand corner and when properly signed, and STAMPED with the number of the Local.

UNION MADE BOOTS AND SHOES.

The Boot and Shoe Workers' union is the national head of the trade, and is a new combination of all the branches of boot and shoe workers. The above trade-mark when found on the sole or lining of a boot or shoe, is a guarantee that the same is made by union labor. Look for the above design stamped on the sole of every pair of boots or shoes you buy.

CUSTOM TAILORS' LABEL.

The Journeymen Tailor's Label is to be found in the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the under side of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants. It is printed in black ink on white linen.

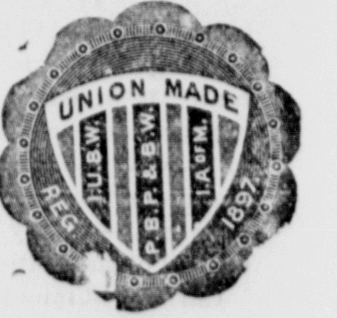

UNION MADE CLOTHES.

You will find the linen label attached by machine stitching to the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the inside of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants.

BICYCLE LABEL.

"Do unto others as ye would that others should do unto you." You will endorse the "Golden Rule" by buying and riding bicycles bearing this Label. The colors are as follows: The Union shield is in red, white and blue, on a background of pea green, bordered by gold. The Label will be placed on the upper front side of the tube that receives the seat post.

UNION BREAD AND CRACKERS.

This is a full size facsimile of the Label of the Bakers' and Confectioners' union. It is printed on fine white paper and is pasted on each loaf of union-made bread. It is an evidence that the bread is made under fair and wholesome conditions, and in clean and healthy bakeries. Following is the confectioners' and cracker Label:

GEN. OTIS TO CONFER.

Going to Angeles to Meet the Rebel Commission.

AMERICAN PRISONERS EXPECTED.

Two Reconnoitering Parties Came Into
Collision With the Insurgents — Four Americans Wounded—Lieutenant Howland Visited Rebel Outposts.

MANILA, Sept. 30.—(9:45 a. m.)—Generals Otis and Schwan and possibly
Generals Lawton and Bates will proceed to Angeles, where they may confer
with Filipino commissioners, as the result of an exchange of communications between General MacArthur and the insurgents.

A Filipino general is expected with
the American prisoners.

Two reconnoitering parties came into collision with the insurgents near Imus
and four Americans were wounded.

MANILA, Sept. 30.—General Mac-
Arthur's command returned to Angeles,
where the Generals MacArthur, Whea-
ton and Wheeler established their headquarters with 3,000 troops. It is expected they will remain there until a general advance is ordered. There are no troops at Porac.

Nine Americans were wounded in Thursday's fighting, two probably fatally. It was estimated that 50 insurgents were killed or wounded.

The American prisoners were expected here today, unless Thursday's whipping changed Aguinaldo's mind.

A Filipino general, an aide-de-camp
and a secretary, it was expected, will accompany them to Manila. The insurgents have been instructed that they may send a representative to confer with Major General Otis. The regu-
ments are resting at Porac.

The Spanish commissioners who recently spent a month at Tarlac arrived
at Angeles.

The commissioners said they were confident they will arrange for the liberation of all the Spanish prisoners.

Lieutenant Howland of General
Wheaton's staff visited the inner lines
of Filipino outposts, presumably to notify them that the Spanish commissioners were coming. He met with a friendly reception.

With the Rebels.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The navy de-

The NEWS REVIEW has just closed a contract with Rand, Mc-Nally & Co., of Chicago, the famous map publishers, for the ex-CLUSIVE sale and distribution of the new Rand McNally

Expansion Atlas

In this city and vicinity.

This is the revised edition and is right up to date. It contains general maps covering every part of the world, complete and accurate, but its special interest is found in the new maps and descriptive matter pertaining to the

New American Colonies,

The Philippines, Hawaii, Porto Rico, Cuba, Manila and vicinity, including a chronology of all the important events of the Spanish-American war.

The Dewey Souvenir,

A handsomely engraved colored plate, containing excellent portraits of Admirals Dewey and Farragut and the American naval commanders in the Orient, forms the frontispiece of the book. In the center is a beautiful picture in colors of the Battle of Manila Bay, showing the position of each of the American and Spanish vessels and the scenery of the bay, drawn from official descriptions.

Photographs

Of the leading American war ships and portraits of all the presidents are also shown. All the maps are fully and completely indexed so that it is possible in a moment to find any place desired.
Population, area and other interesting information is given briefly and accurately up to date.

The map showing how the United States have expanded since the foundation of this government is one of the most valuable features of the book, as it shows

The History of Expansion

at a glance.

Head of the House.

"Is a woman the head of the house?" was the question propounded to Secretary Brent of the Virginia state board of education in a letter received from Goochland county. Mr. Brent is a diplomat and, by the reply which he sent, it may be decided without doubt this correspondent was a woman. He told her that so far as his knowledge went, she was "head of the house"—de facto, but he would have to investigate further before he could say whether she was de jure. This same question was raised in the United States court a few weeks ago, when Mrs. Marion H. Richardson filed a petition in bankruptcy in which she claimed the exemption of certain household goods from liability for debts. The referee decided that the exemption law applied only to the "head of the house," and that a woman who is living with her husband and is supported by him cannot be considered as such. Judge Edmund Waddill, Jr., sustained the referee and allowed an appeal from his decision. The case will probably be heard in the United States circuit court this fall.

General Kengiffo Drowned.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The Colombian legation has received an official cablegram from Bogota announcing that General Julio Kengiffo, until recently the Colombian representative in Washington and one of the best-known South American diplomats, has been drowned. He married Miss Jane Barbour of this city, who is here.

WHITE HOUSE CHANGES.

The Edifice Undergoes Alterations With Each Presidential Family.

During the absence of President and Mrs. McKinley from Washington Colonel Bingham, superintendent of public buildings and grounds had a large force of workmen employed in renovating and repairing the executive mansion, and this work is being hurried to completion.

It is quite a noticeable and interesting fact that the White House bears in a measure the individuality of every lady who has had the honor to reside there and by whom the expensive decorations and furnishings have been in a great measure planned. It has been sought to preserve the colonial appearance of the mansion, but through the varying tastes for decorations very little of the colonial atmosphere of the interior remains.

The historic traditions of the mansion could be as well preserved perhaps if the president no longer continued to reside there, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. There is scarcely any doubt the American people, in view of the interest which has always attached to the White House, would gladly bear the expense of keeping it as it now stands, as Mount Vernon and Arlington are maintained. More historic traditions clustered around the old capitol than about the White House, but this fact did not prevent congress from altering it to suit its convenience and needs whenever desirable or necessary.

If the White House had never been altered from the day of its erection to the present time except to make necessary repairs, it would be of much more historical interest than it is, or if it had received extensive additions from time to time, such as the great castles in England, it would then present an interesting appearance. But as it is no extensive alterations have ever been made, but one president after another has snipped off a little here and added a little there, inside and outside, until the White House is neither purely colonial nor modern, but a patchwork of both.

Reading the Bible.

Give the Bible a chance! It appears very often that ministers are of the opinion of the old lady who called all the church services the "trimmin's to the sermon" and of "no account." It is surprising to hear how badly some ministers can and do read the Scriptures. It would be strange if the people had much regard for the Bible after the minister had shown so little.—Universalist Leader.
